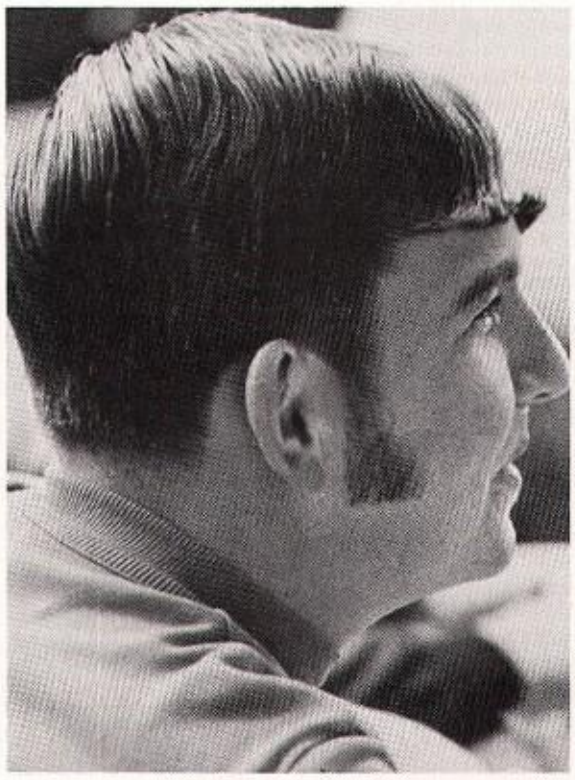
Art is long, and Time is fleeting,



That same face of yours looks like the title-page to a whole volume of roguery.
— Cibber

And our hearts, though stout and brave,

For fools rush in where angels fear to tread.
— Pope

They also serve who only stand and wait.
— Milton

Never despair; but if you do, work on in despair.
— Burke

Even a teacher is a welcome face in an empty hall.

Act, — act in the living Present!

Babies haven't any hair;
Old men's heads are just as bare; —
Between the cradle and the grave
Lies a haircut and a shave.
— Hoffenstein

A quiet moment . . .

A solitary shriek, the bubbling cry
Of some strong swimmer in his agony.
— Byron

Life is mostly froth and bubble.
—Gordon

The beauty seen,
is partly in him
who sees it.
— Bovee

. . . Let us, then, be up and doing,

The power of applying attention, steady and undissipated, to a single object, is a sure mark of a superior genius.
— Chesterfield

The fact is, nothing comes; at least, nothing good. All has to be fetched.
— Buxton

Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp,
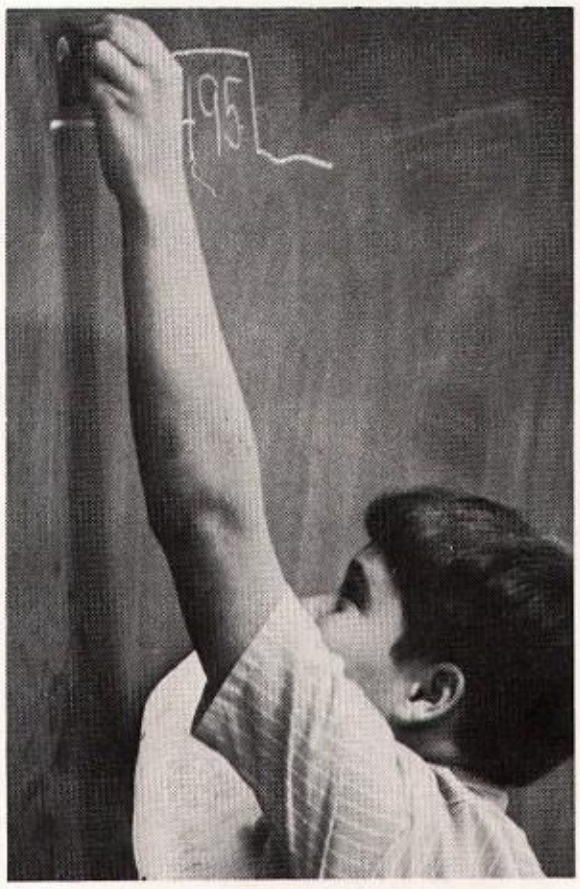
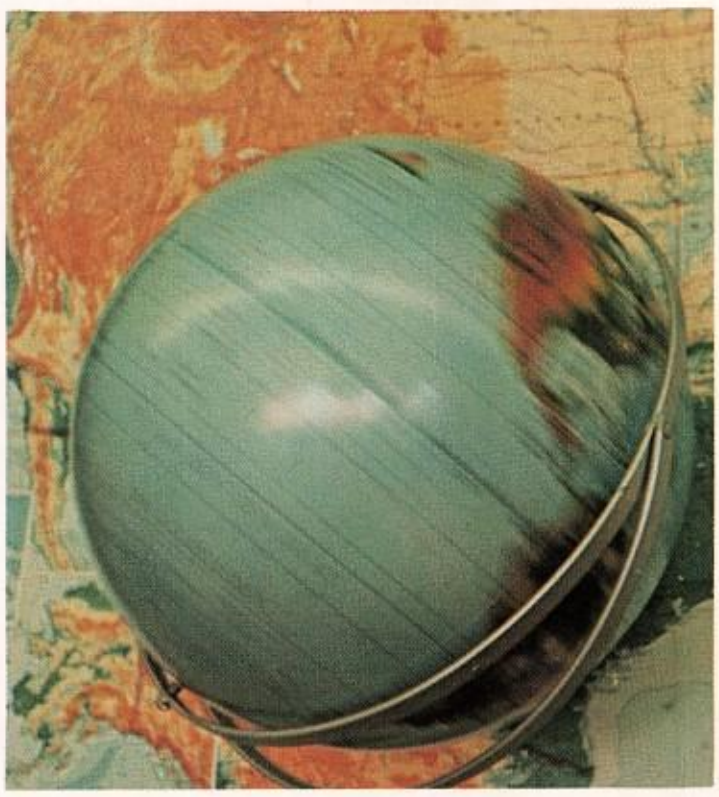
Or what's a heaven for?
— Browning

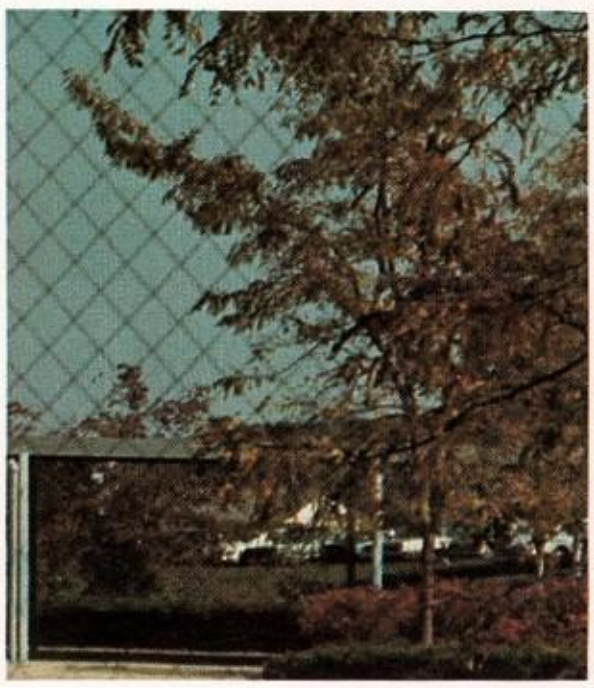


Any effort can be better if taken with a smile.

How great a matter a little fire kindleth!
— Bible

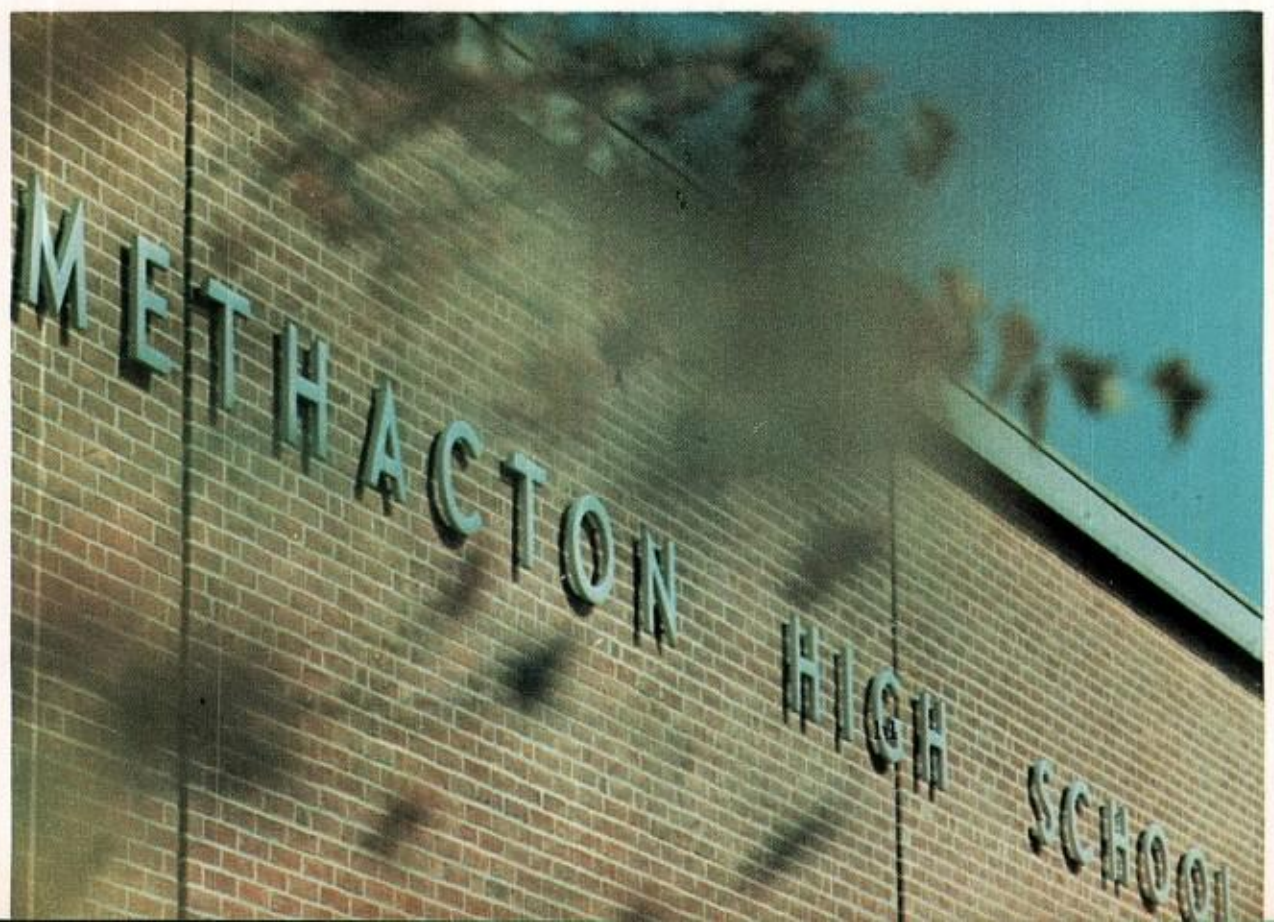


That final trek home is always the longest.



Nothing violent, oft have I heard tell, can be permanent.
— Marlowe

With a heart for any fate;



Oh, if we could only gather the past together.

Still achieving,
Still pursuing,
Learn to labour

I scream, you scream,
we all scream for ice cream.
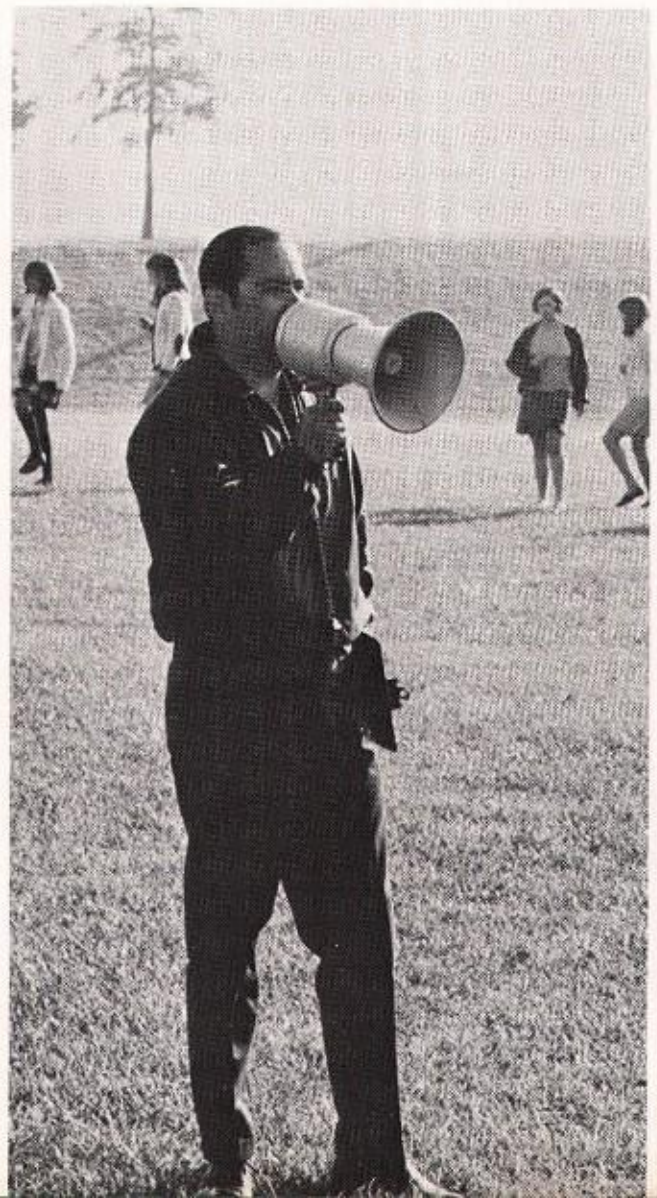
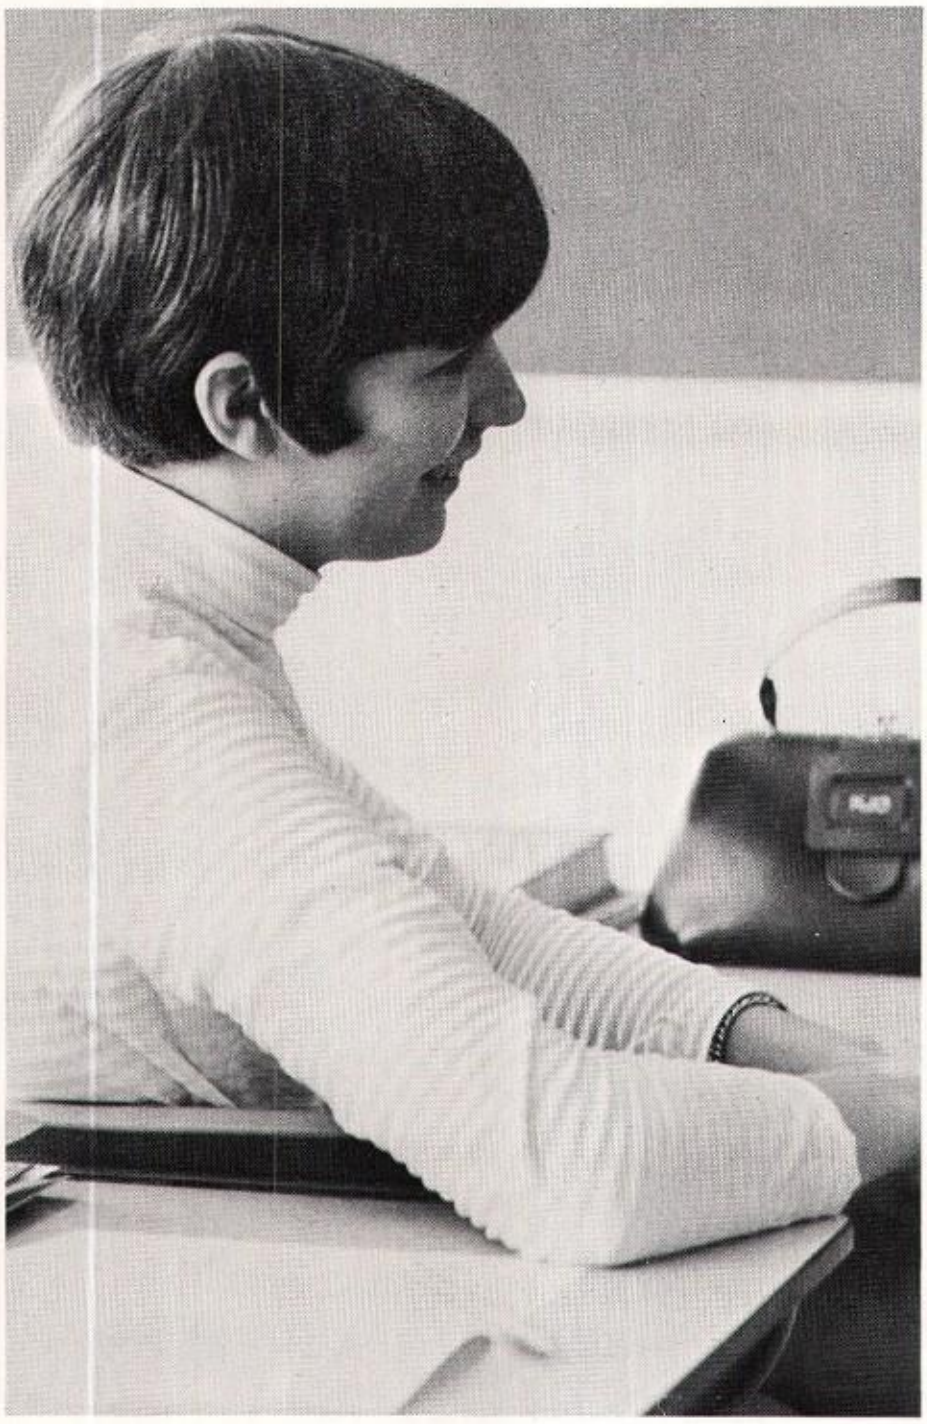
— Anon

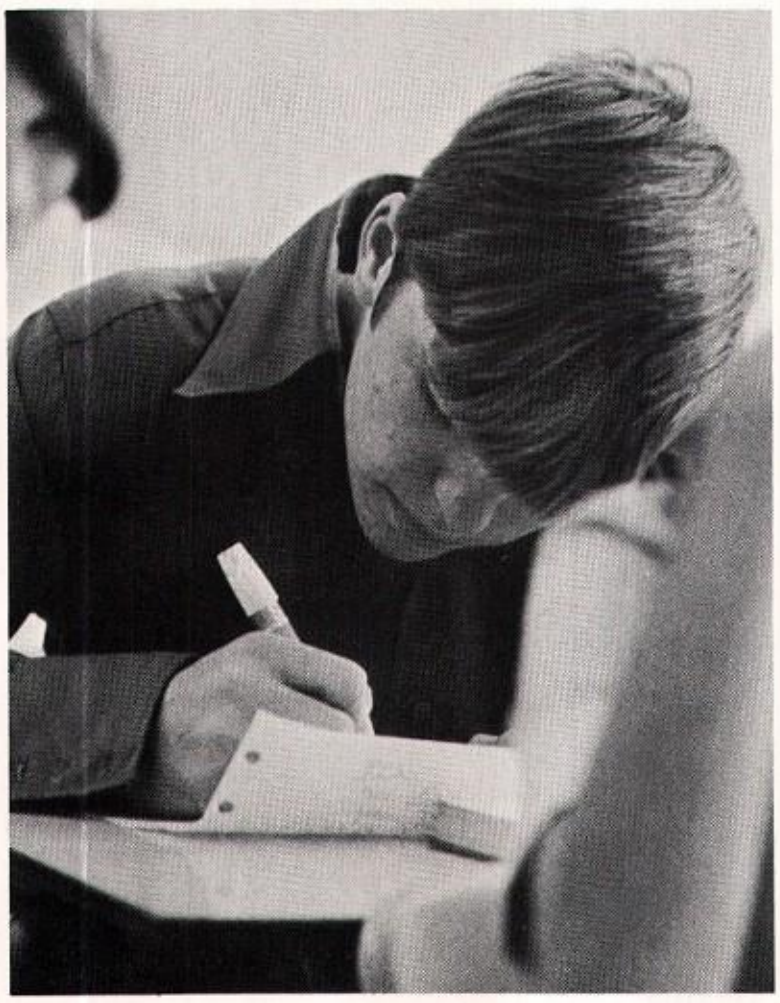


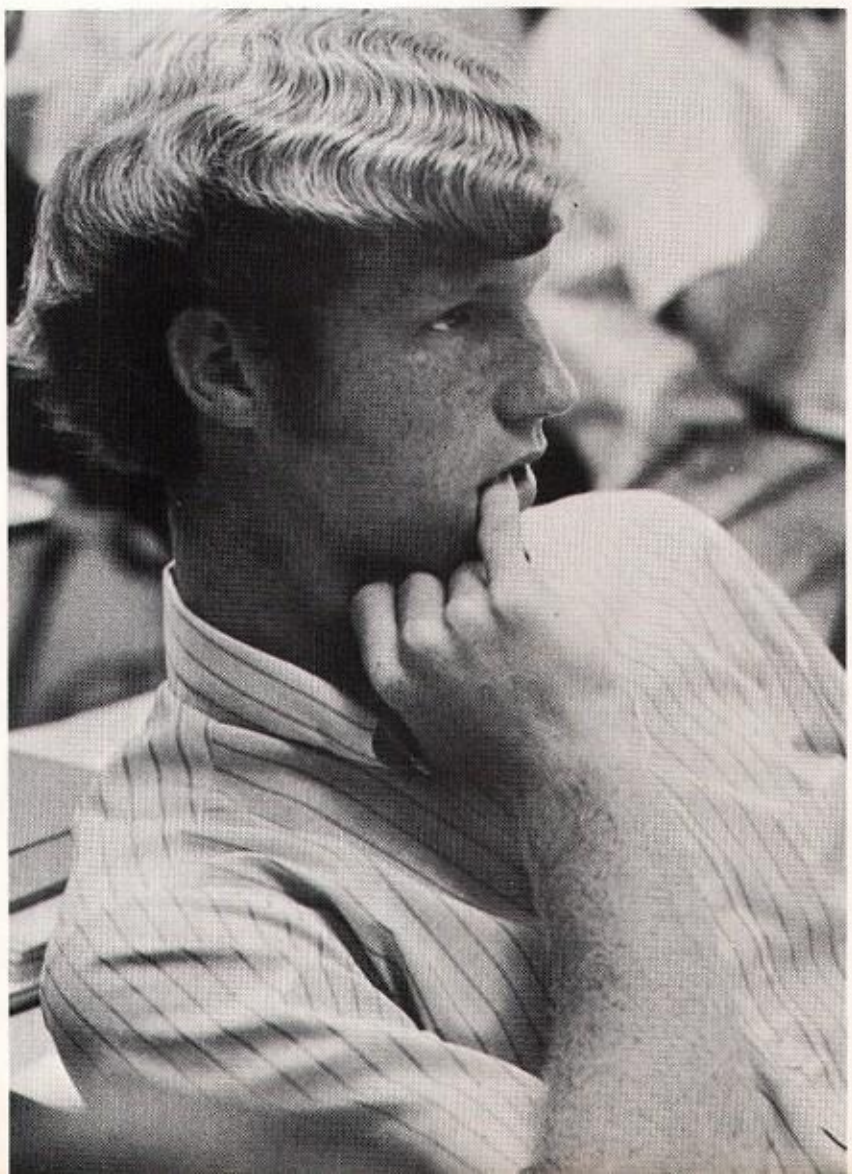


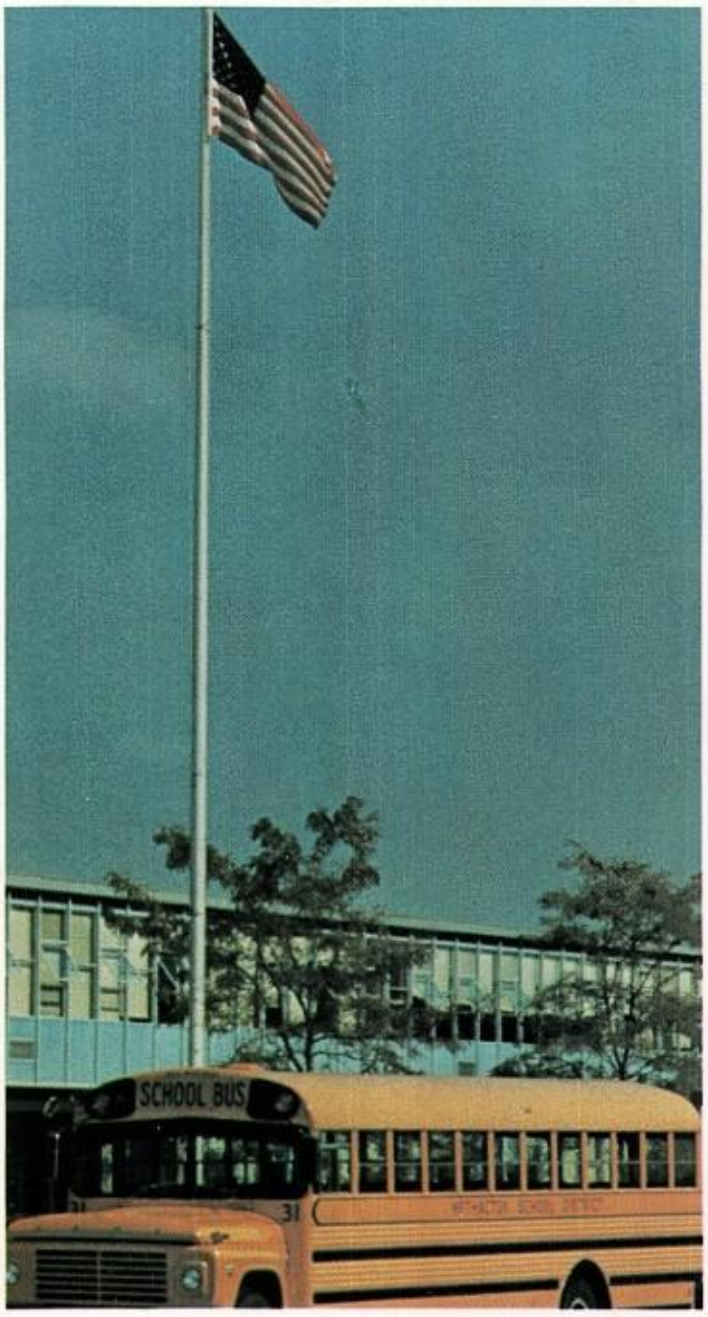
A smile will turn anyone's head.

and to wait.

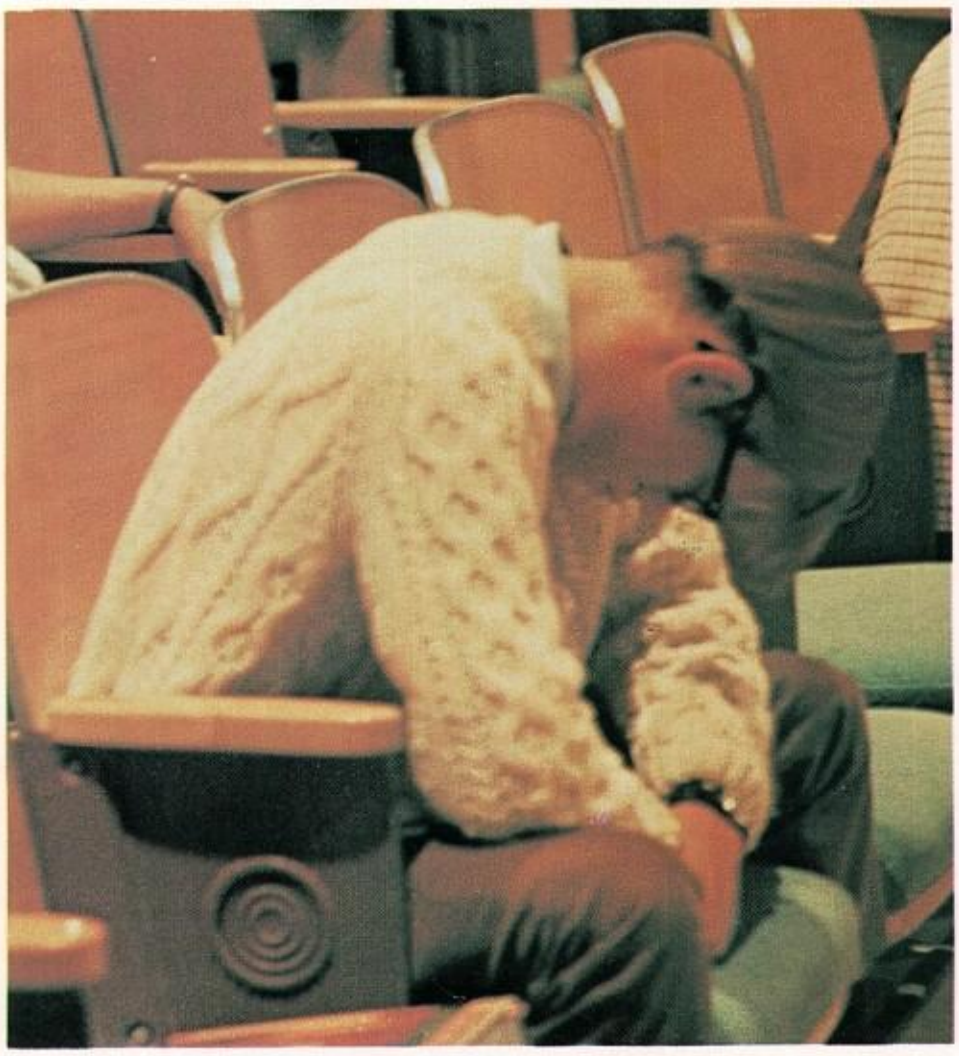
I understand how, I just don't know why.



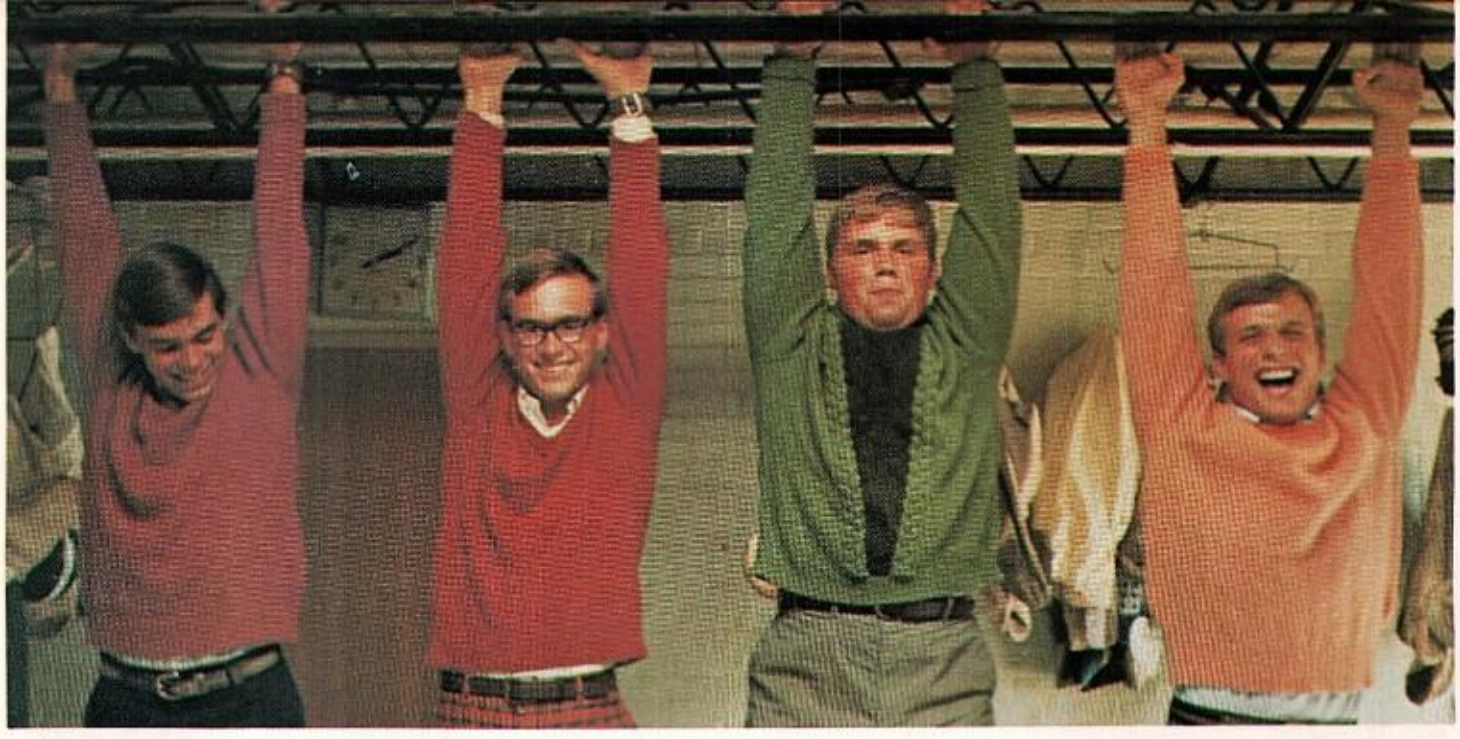


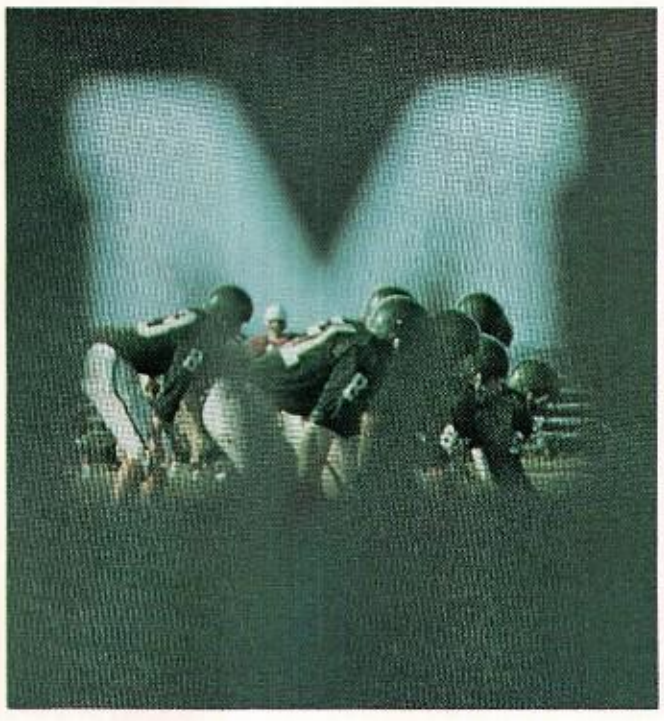


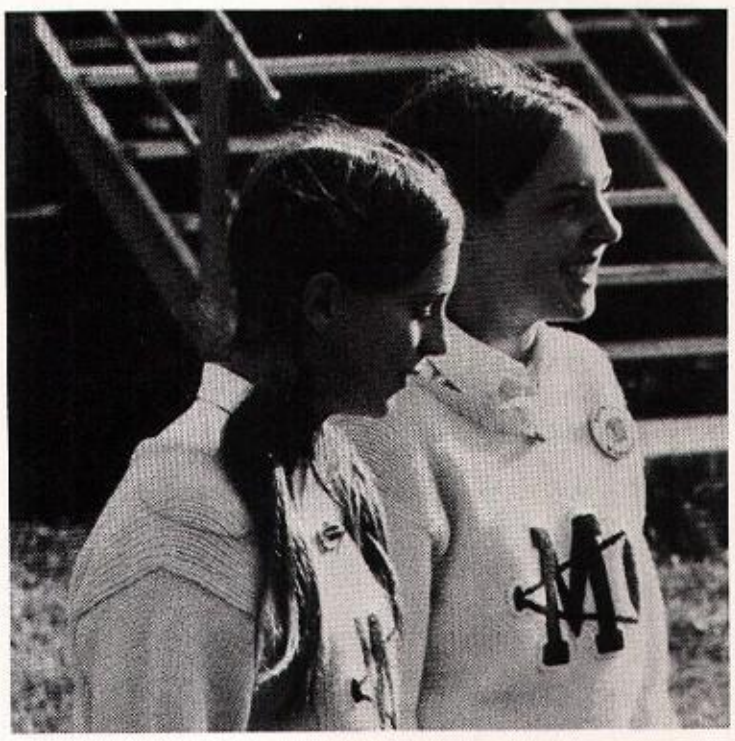
To sleep: perchance
to dream.
— Shakespeare



All is in readiness for a great beginning.



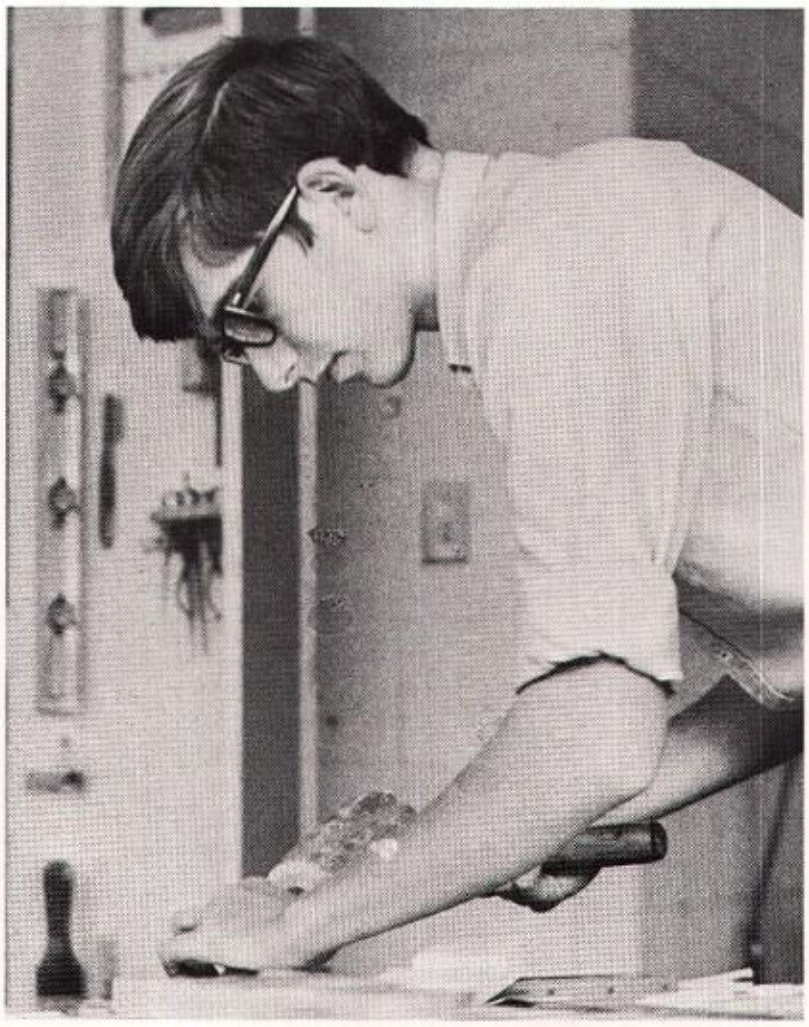




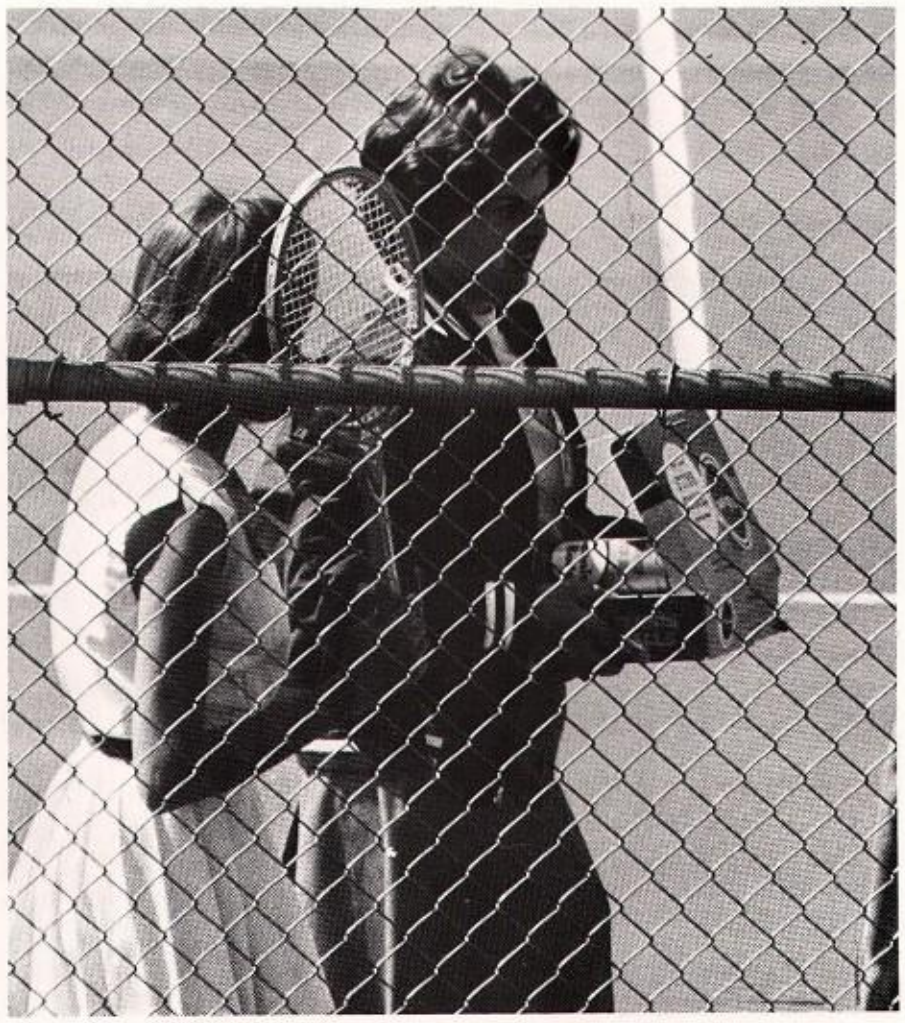
Good food, good friends, good talk.

All human wisdom is summed up in two words, — wait and hope.
— Dumas the Elder

. . . And, departing, leave behind us

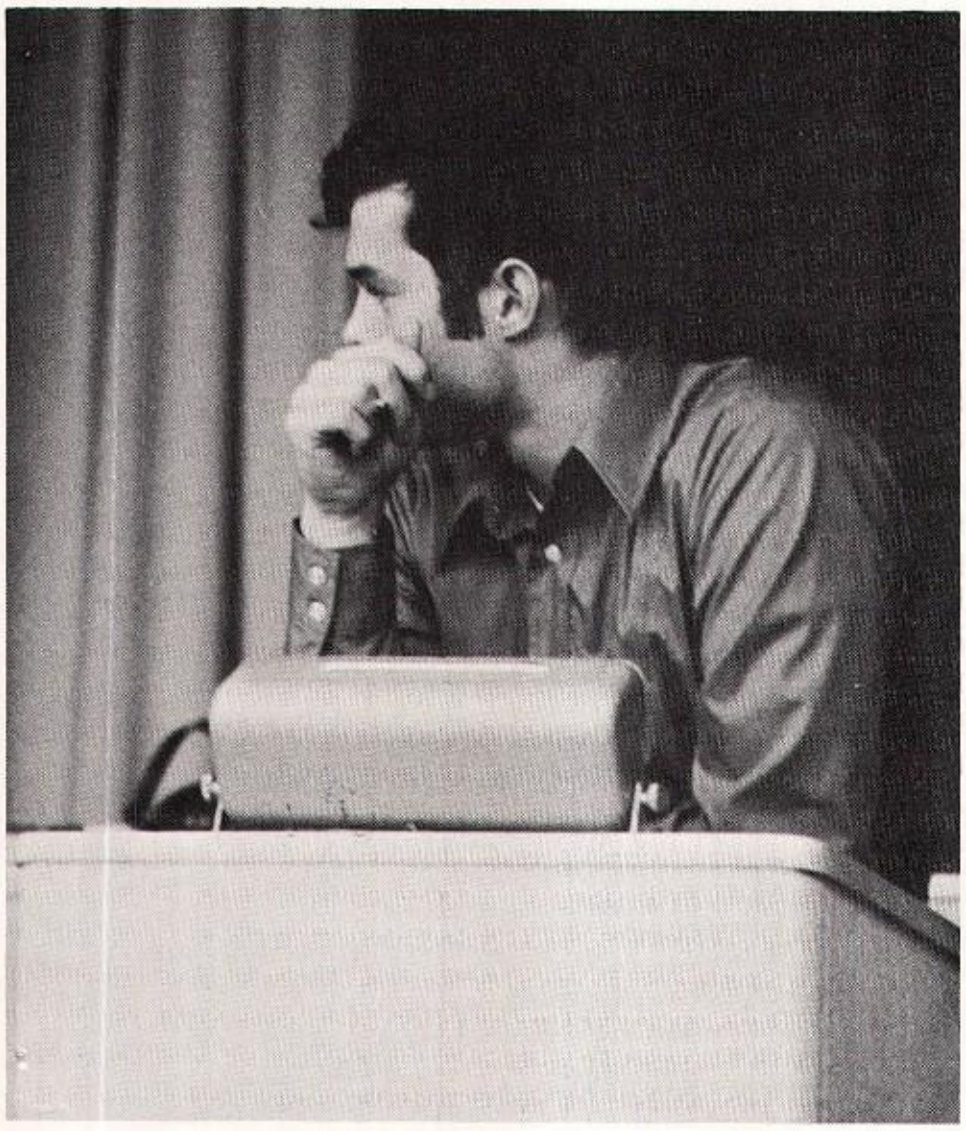


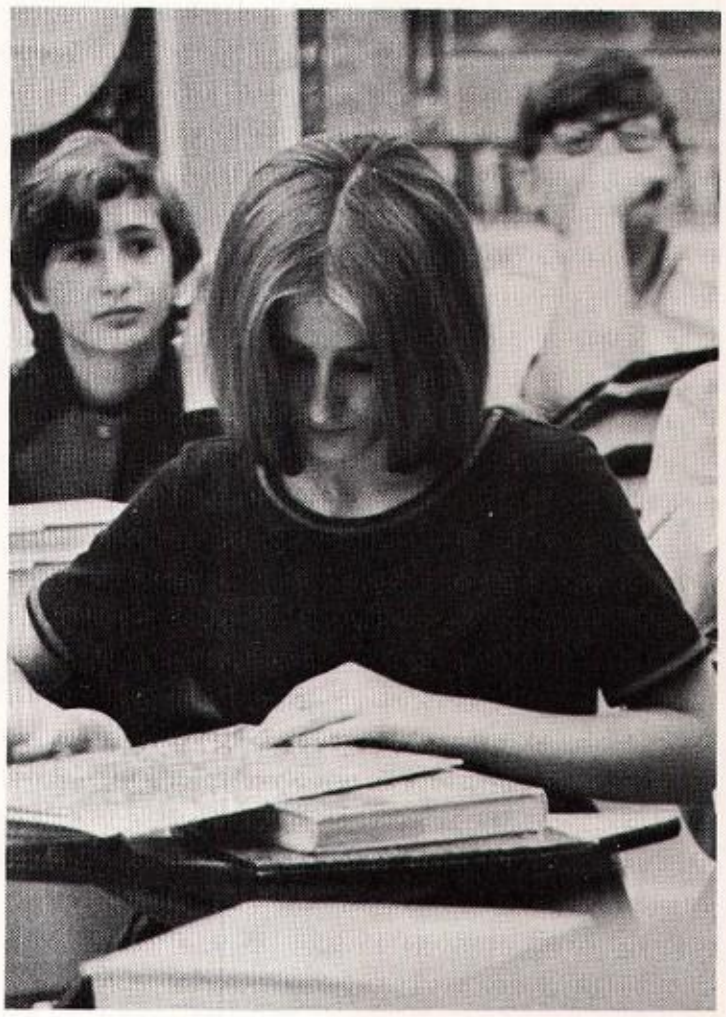
A man is a worker. If he is not that he is nothing.
— Conrad



Footprints on the sands of time.

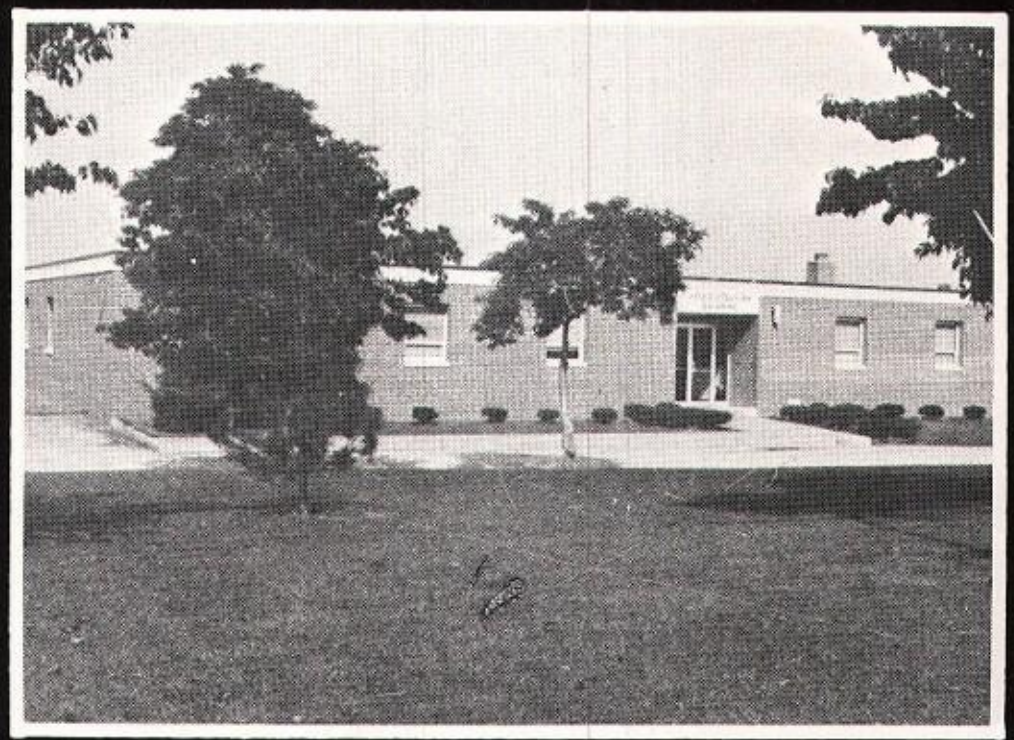
Strange how work brings out man's creativity.



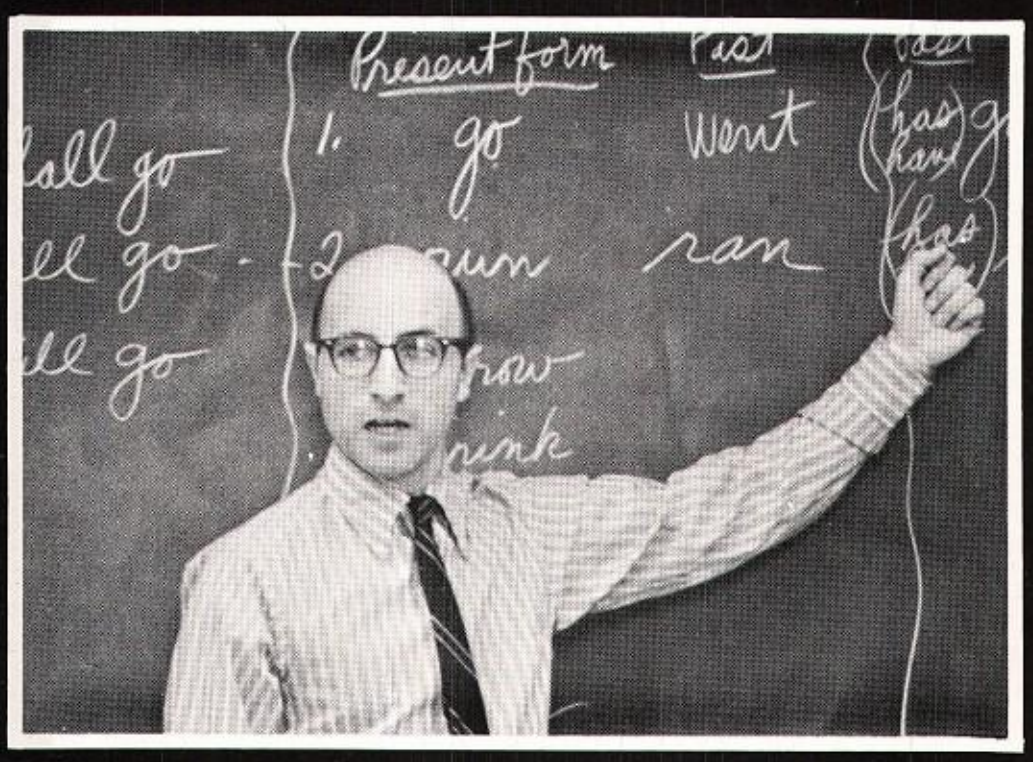


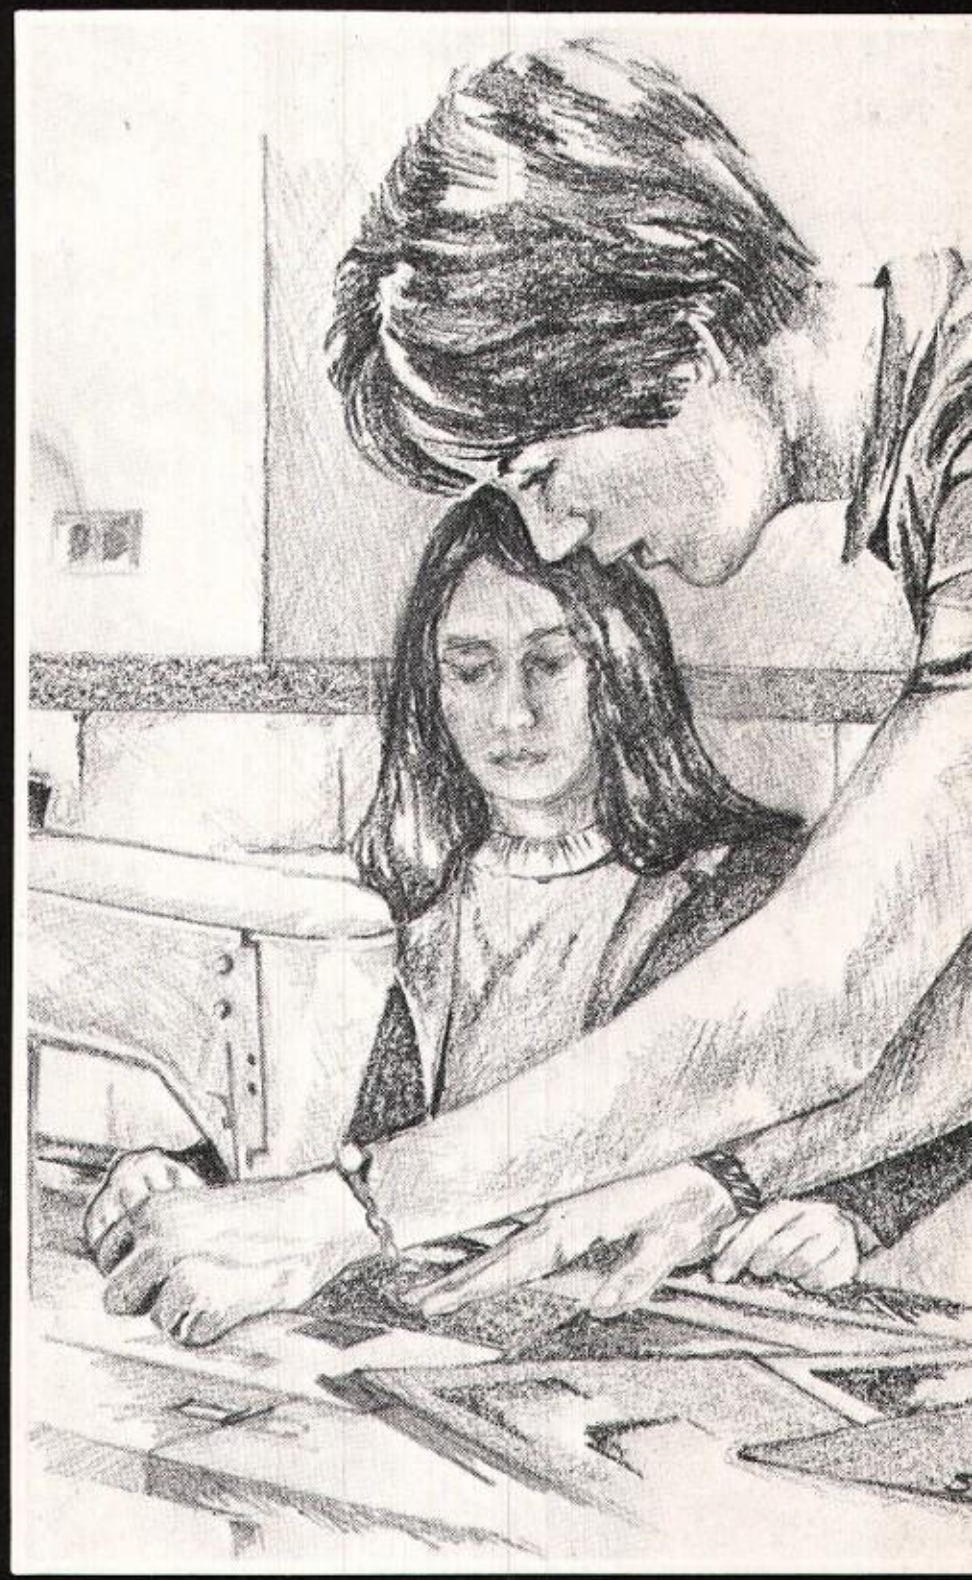
. . . in authority settled and calm.
— Bacon

Victory is only known to those who achieve it.



ADMINISTRATION & FACULTY





Dedicated citizens comprise Methacton's School Board. They must supervise the workings of all the schools in the district. The elected members go beyond their responsibilities in order to provide the best education available for the students. The planning of a new junior and senior high school were among the accomplishments of the School Board this year.

SEATED: Mr. Robert Hildebrand, President; Mr. Albert Bobb, Secretary; Mr. Paul Koons. STANDING: Mr. Oliver Smith, Mr. Arthur Hibbets.

Sharing with us their knowledge and experience

VINCENT F. FARINA, CHIEF SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR AND SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL; B.S. Kutztown State College; M.Ed. Temple University.

Message to the Class of 1970:

Many of us — adults and youth — get discouraged when we look at the local or national scene so filled with all kinds of problems and turmoil; and we get worried each time we hear the round-up of local and international news reminding us of what is wrong with youth, the local community, the state or the world. Where shall we begin to solve these momentous problems?

An ancient Chinese proverb pinpoints the answer:

"If there is beauty in the character,
There will be harmony in the home.
If there is harmony in the home,
There will be order in the nation.
If there is order in the nation,
There will be peace in the world."

The key to the solution of all problems in society is individual character, integrity, and honesty. It is the beginning of all good things. No rearrangement of bad eggs can make a good omelet.

The foundation for good character is the example of parents specifically and adults in general. All the advanced insights of psychology have confirmed an old saying: "the apple does not fall far from the tree."

A second influence on character development which cannot be underestimated is the influence of friends — your peers — classmates.

"He that walks with the wise becomes wise,
But the companion of fools will suffer harm."
Proverbs 13:20

We take on the characteristics of those with whom we associate. First we dress like them; then we speak like them; then we think like them; and finally we act like them.

The third ingredient in Character education, which I would like to stress is training in responsibility. I believe we instill in youth respect for the moral order in society by demonstrating certain standards and responsibilities which are part of his day by day experiences which become his rights. For example, we prove to him the value of effort and work by giving recognition to merit; which says to the pupil "you must work for what you get." We teach respect for the rights of others, by giving every student a certain set of standards and responsibilities which lead to earned privileges.

There are many things we all would want to give you — our graduates — but nothing quite compares with the value of good character.

"When wealth is lost, nothing is lost.
When health is lost, much is lost,
When character is lost, all is lost."

In the opinion of Edmund Burke, "Example is the school of mankind, and they will learn at no other."

It is my hope and prayer that we: your parents, your teachers, your administrators, and your school board members have taught you by example the importance of character — the basis of moral and spiritual values.

Sincerely yours,

Vincent F. Farina

Best Wishes to the Class of 1970:

As you venture forth in life there are many avenues to follow that will lead to a successful life.

Remember always that knowledge without common sense is folly; without method it is waste; without kindness it is fanaticism. But with common sense it is wisdom; with method it is power; with kindness it is virtue, life and peace.

While at Methacton we hope we have given you the foundations to carry forth your every aspiration.

Again, may I wish each and everyone of the Class of 1970 a strong and lasting future.

Sincerely,

To the Class of 1970:

I wish you all success. But, what is success? Success could be having accomplished the task of satisfactorily completing your high school education. My hope is that this might be just the first of many accomplishments. For some individuals, success might consist of developing something new in science, writing a beautiful piece of poetry, or establishing a prosperous business. Even more important than these is having respect for your fellowman. Develop an appreciation of earth's beauty and be a person who looks for the best in others and gives the best of himself.

And better streams,

New additions this year to Methacton's Business Department are semester courses in personal typing and notehand. These courses will benefit both academic and business students. The business lab and work experience programs prepare students for business careers after high school. These courses consist of classroom work for the first semester and working at a part-time job during the second semester. Other courses designed to prepare business students for their careers are typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and office practice.

Basically, the social studies teachers are concerned with geography, history, and civics. These courses help familiarize us with the background of the world in which we live and give us a foundation for an understanding of our society and different societies throughout the world. Since we are to inherit the world, its advantages and problems, we must have a better preparation than textbooks alone can give us. This is why many hours of class time are devoted to discussions of current events and world problems.

The study of mathematics is an ever expanding field. Just as courses are constantly being modernized, so also are the methods of teaching them. For this reason, math is offered on many different levels at Methacton. General Math is offered on the non-academic level, a special type of math is taught for those students wishing to go into business, and courses ranging from algebra to calculus are extended to academic students.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS. ROW 1: J. Carroll, Sergeant-at-Arms; S. Sovring, Secretary; K. Adams, Vice President; J. Wessner, Treasurer; P. Perkins, President.

Class leaders were elected to the Senior Congress of the Class of 1970. They helped make decisions regarding the many important facets of the senior year. Committees working under the auspices of Congress formed plans for the banquet "Crystallite Ball", the prom "Tijuana Twilight", and a special Sunshine Committee sent cards to hospitalized seniors.

Their sponsor, Mr. Baldassano, President Paul Perkins, Vice President Kirt Adams, Secretary Susan Sovring, and Treasurer Janet Wessner helped keep meetings running smoothly.

Reaching for tomorrow,

ABOVE: Kathi and Carol exchange stories of their visits and display native costumes and souvenirs.

Summers of new experiences, new environments and new people composed the vacations of Methacton's two A.F.S. students, Kathi Marinari and Carol Rothenberger. The girls were two of many students from high schools all over the country who were selected by their schools and A.F.S. committees to spend the summer months abroad. Kathi was placed with a family in Turkey, and although only one of her "sisters" in her foreign family spoke English, Kathi was able to learn much about the country, its customs, its people, and even a little Turkish. Carol lived with a family in Uganda, a recently formed African country. Her family was very large, consisting of her "parents" and their children as well as several nieces and nephews. Since her family spoke English, Carol's communication problem was less pronounced.

Both girls had what they termed great experiences and were glad that they had been selected.

Using their talents to plan and carry out a banquet and two proms.

The class of 1970's Junior Prom, "Pineapple Paradise" was held at the Whitemarsh Country Club on the evening of May 23, 1969. Elaborate decorations constructed through several weeks of diligent work, and "Hawaiians" serving as hostesses and doormen helped to make the prom a memorable occasion for all those who attended.

The music of T.M. and the Crescents encouraged the couples to dance and delicious refreshments were served.

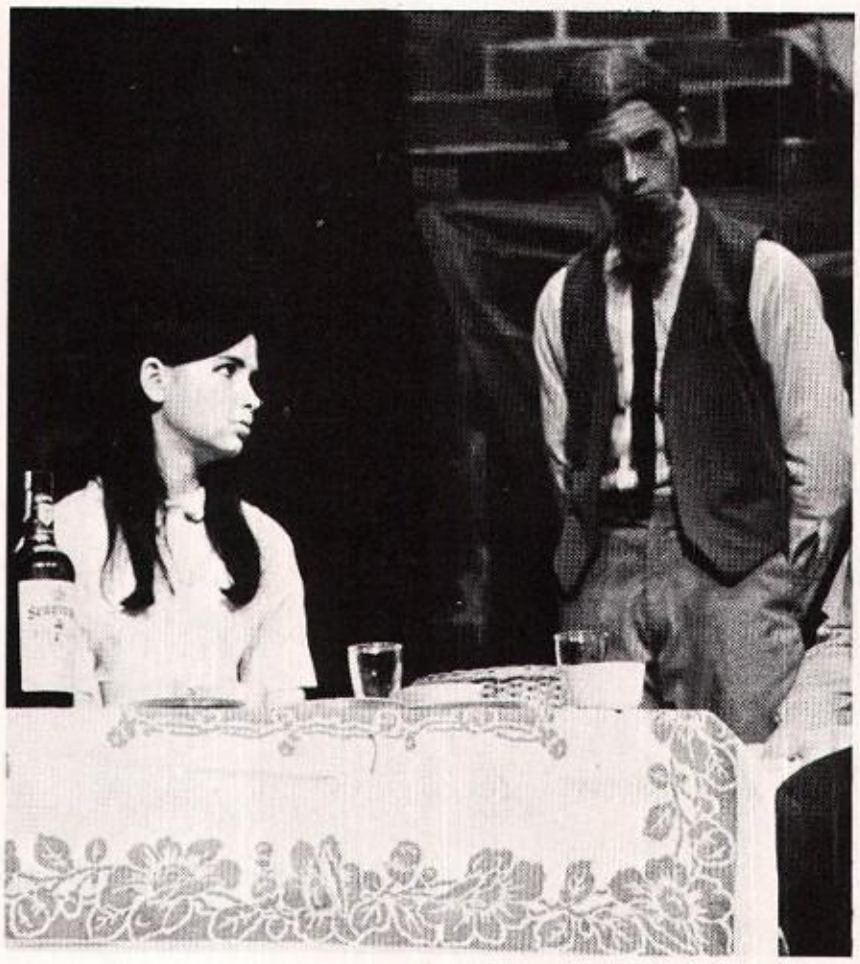
The Class of 1970 looks ahead

"The Diary of Anne Frank," the first dramatic play produced at Methacton, was performed by members of the Class of 1970 on November 14th and 15th. Overcoming many technical difficulties, the seniors presented an admirable dramatic effort and displayed professional showmanship. Some of the people who contributed much of their time and effort to assist with the play were Mr. Donmoyer, director, Mr. Ott, assistant director, Mr. Paladino, settings, and the members of all the play committees. The aid of these and other behind-the-scenes workers helped the play cast put on one of the best plays shown at this school.

LEFT: Karen Harner, as Mrs. Van Daan, recalls the happier times she experienced wearing her prized fur coat as Margot, played by Susan Gehret, listens.



ABOVE: As Mrs. Frank and Miep, Mary Bosler and Debbie Wisniewski talk of the war over a cup of tea. LEFT: Barbara Hagerman, as Anne Frank, portrays the young Jewish girl forced into hiding who is required to grow up in an atmosphere of terror. Here, she is talking with her father, played by Rosse Butterfield.

Toward great expectations

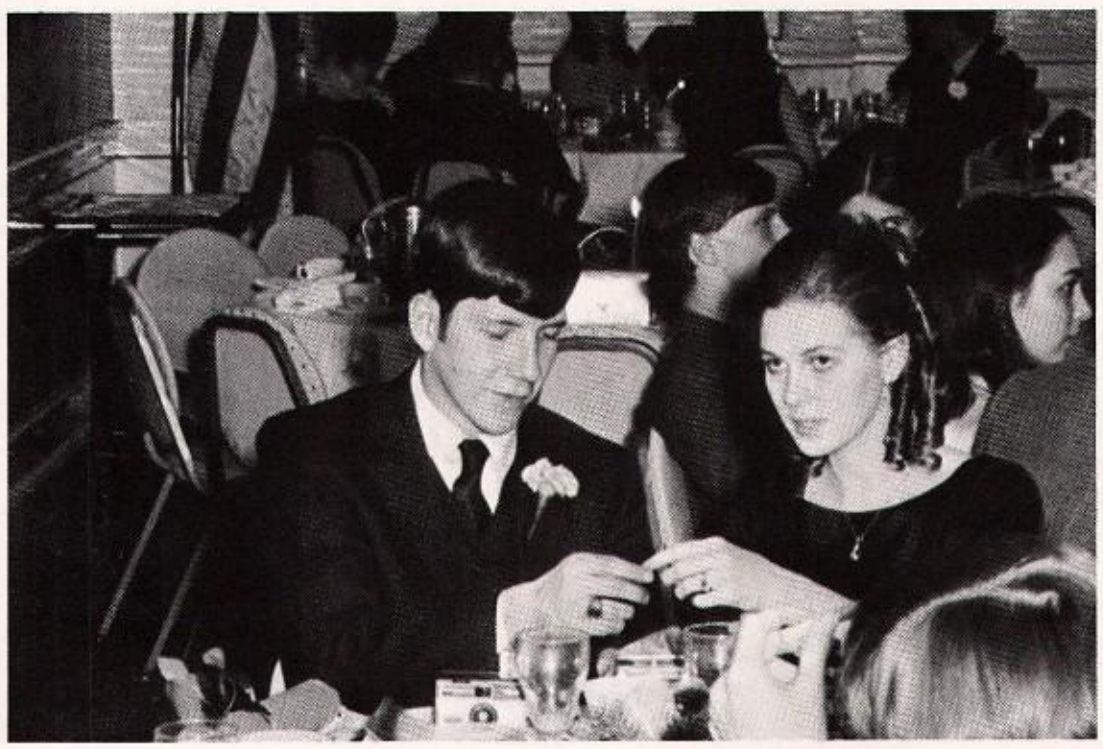
RIGHT: Dave Nyce and Bonnie Donley sit and talk with the others at the table after dinner has ended.



BELOW: The reception line formed at the door of the Penn Ballroom to greet the seniors as they arrived for the banquet.

Amid the pleasant atmosphere of the Sheraton Inn's Penn Ballroom, the Class of '70 held their banquet. The elegant and romantic decor of the room, complimented by candle-lit tables, evergreen centerpieces, and crystal chandeliers, carried through the theme "Crystallite Ball". After a greeting by Class President Paul Perkins and a leisurely meal, seniors listened to the class will and prophecy and some received special awards. The music of the Good 'n Plenty entertained all until the evening drew to a close at 11:30.

LEFT: After dinner the seniors and their dates relax and talk while waiting for the band to begin.

RIGHT: Debbie Wisniewski presented the class will, one of the more humorous parts of the banquet, as everyone finished dessert.

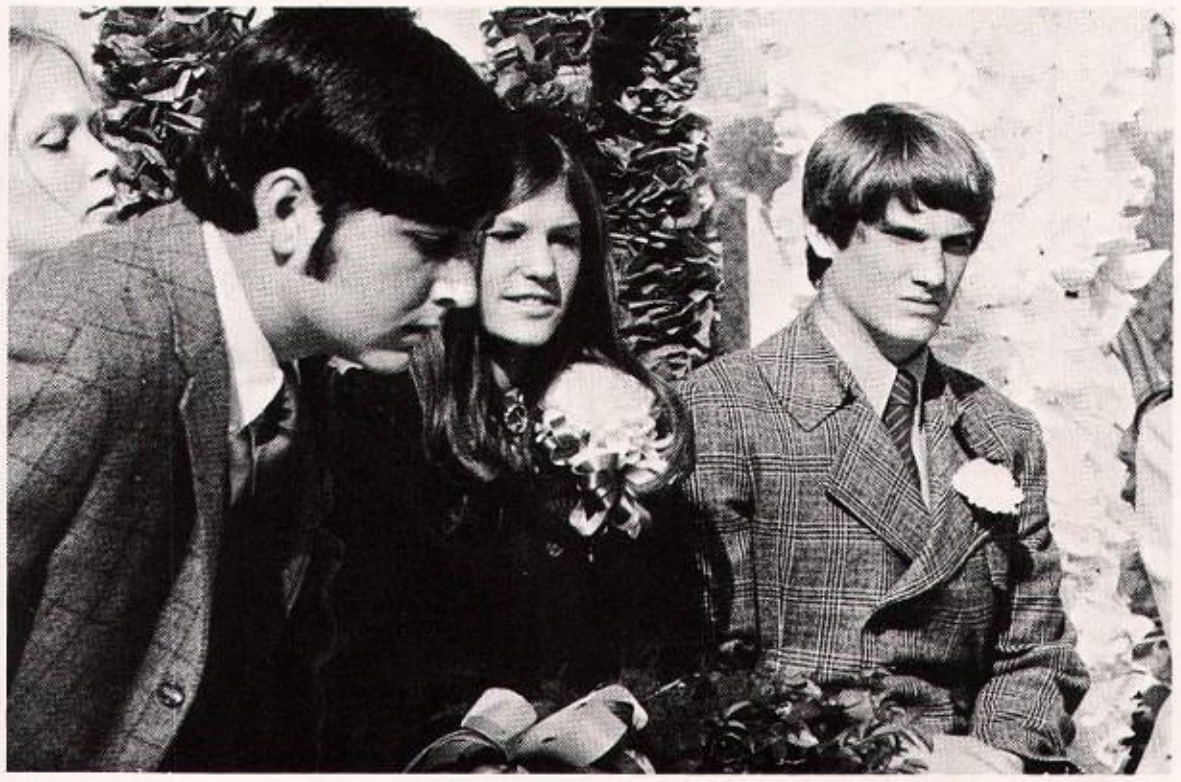
October 14 was Homecoming Day 1969. Thrilling soccer and hockey games began the day as the alumni came back to play the Methacton Varsity.

In the afternoon, the Warriors played host to the Upper Dublin football team and were defeated by them 22-0. But the delightful part of the afternoon came during halftime when the full pageantry of the day came to life. At the climax of the celebration, Peggy Arena was crowned Homecoming Queen. Peggy, her court, and the 1968 Homecoming Queen, Peggy Perkins, along with their escorts were carried around the track on three floats constructed by the Senior Class, the Junior Class, and Student Council.

That night, a dance sponsored by the Senior Class provided the final entertainment for an enjoyable day.



LEFT: Peggy Arena, one of the seniors chosen to be in the Homecoming Court, is introduced little knowing that she is to be the next homecoming queen.

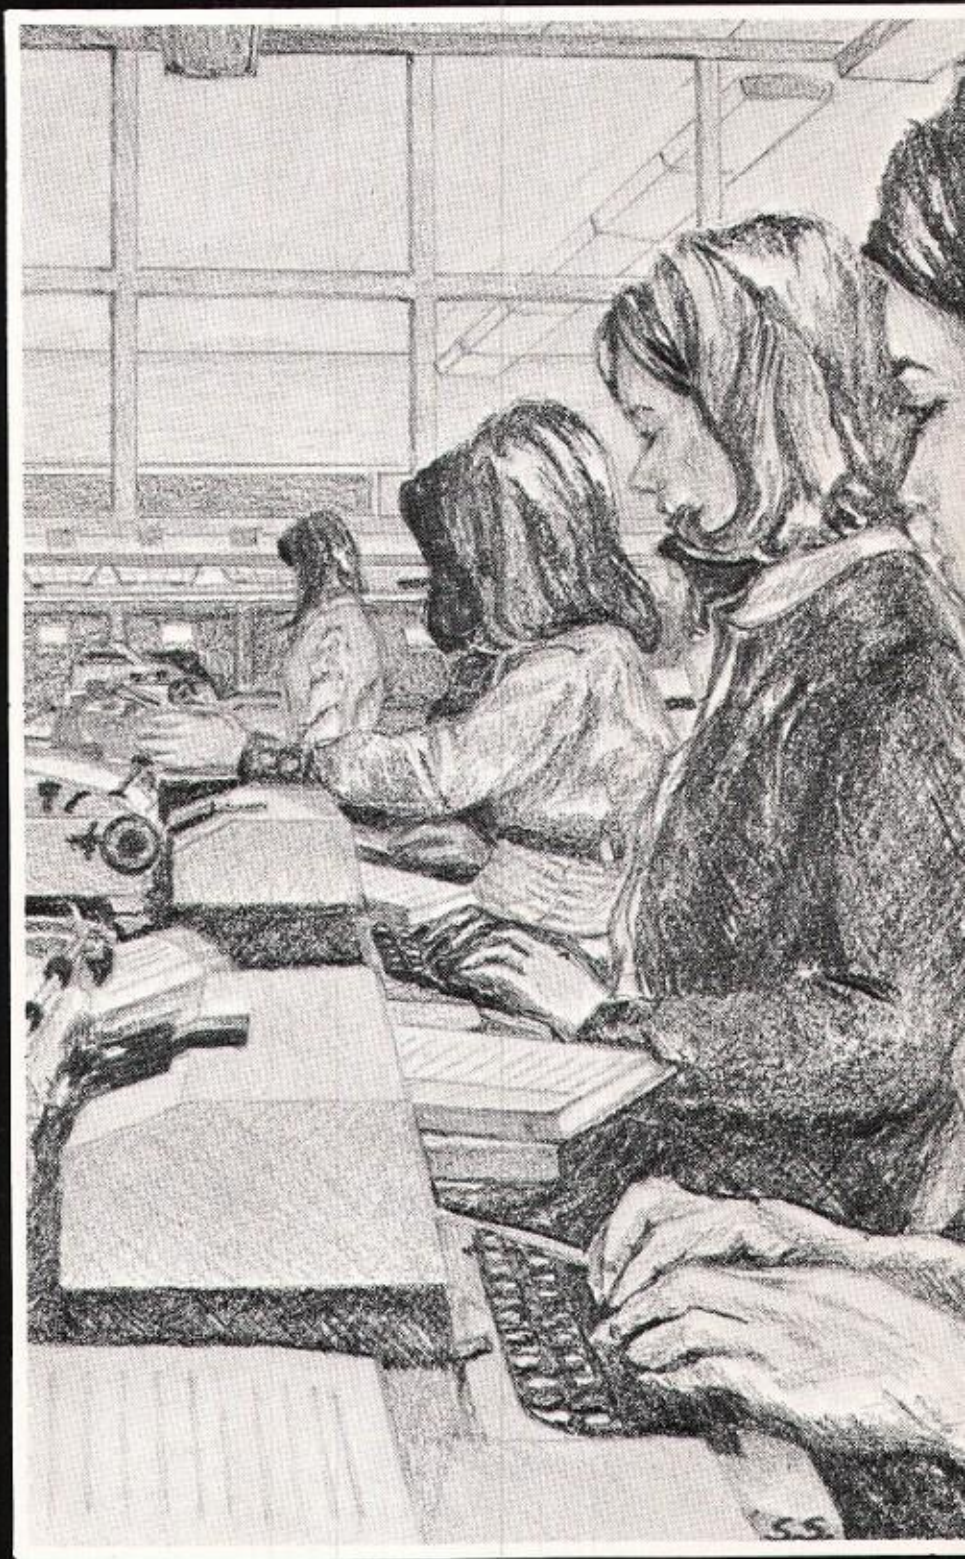
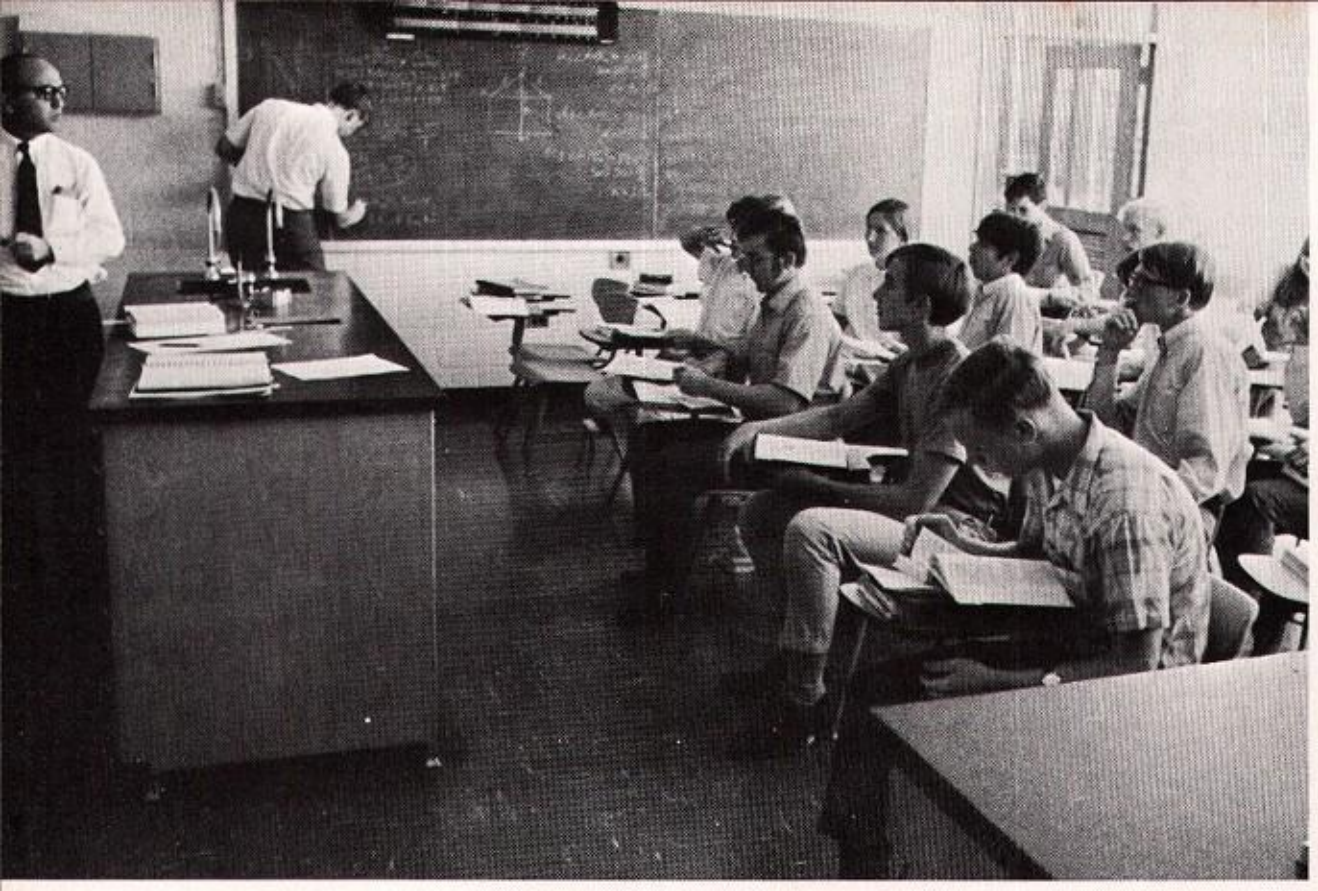
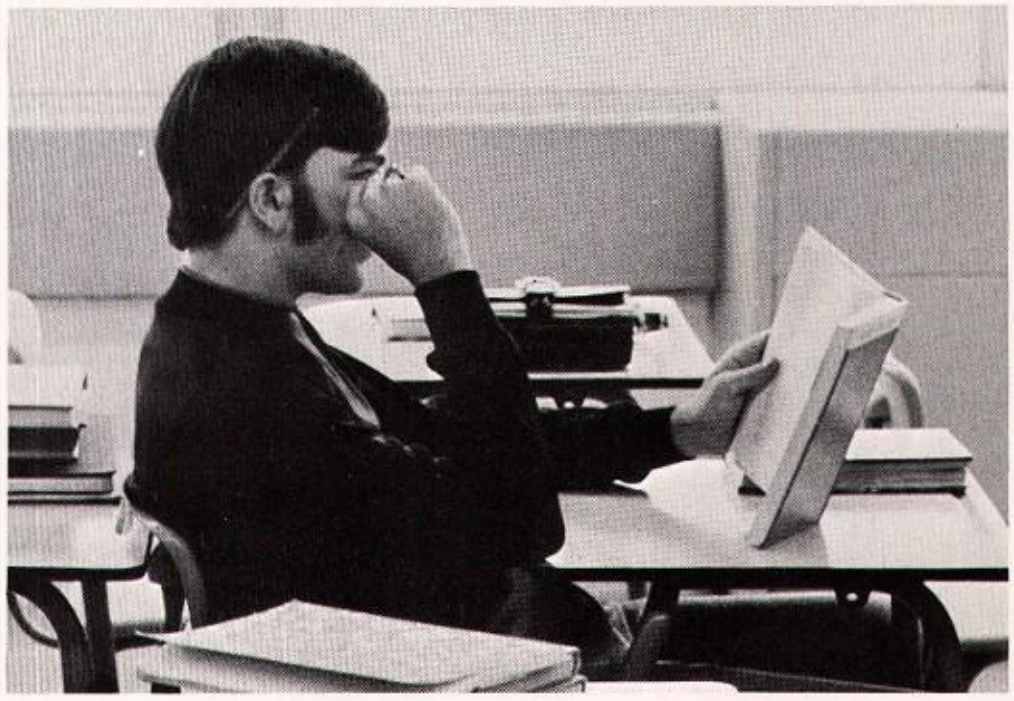
CURRICULUM



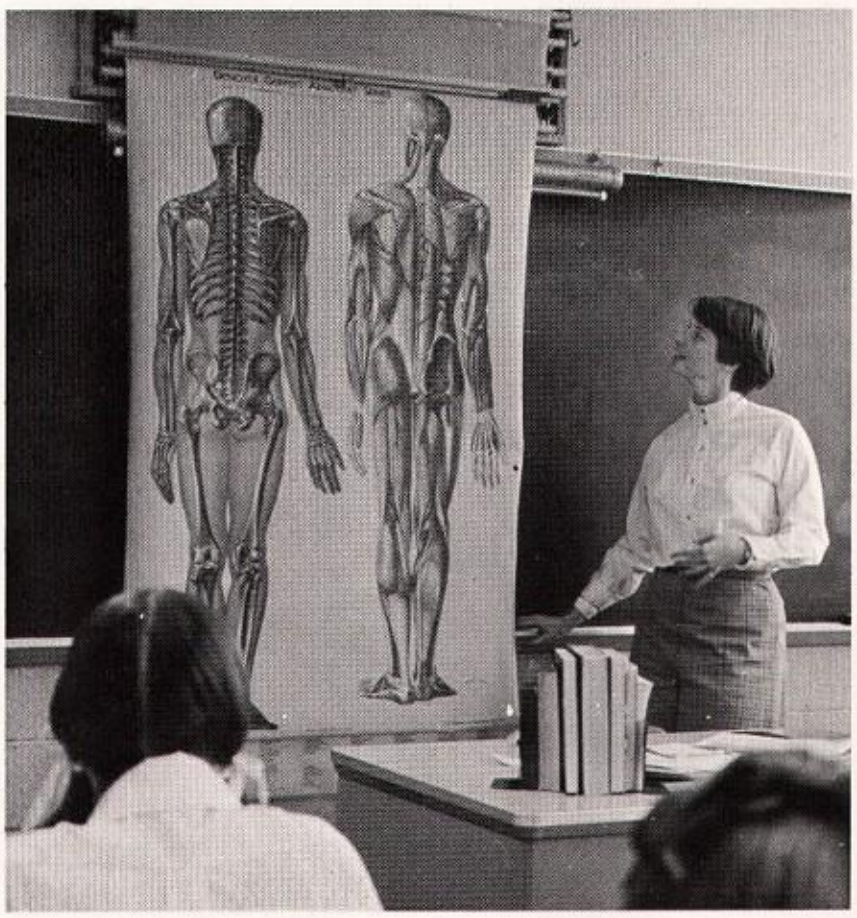


Physics, one of the three major elective sciences offered at Methacton, provides a challenge for students who have successfully completed one year of Biology and Algebra II and Trigonometry. LEFT: Physics students attempt to comprehend a new type of problem as it is explained by Mr. Bergandino.

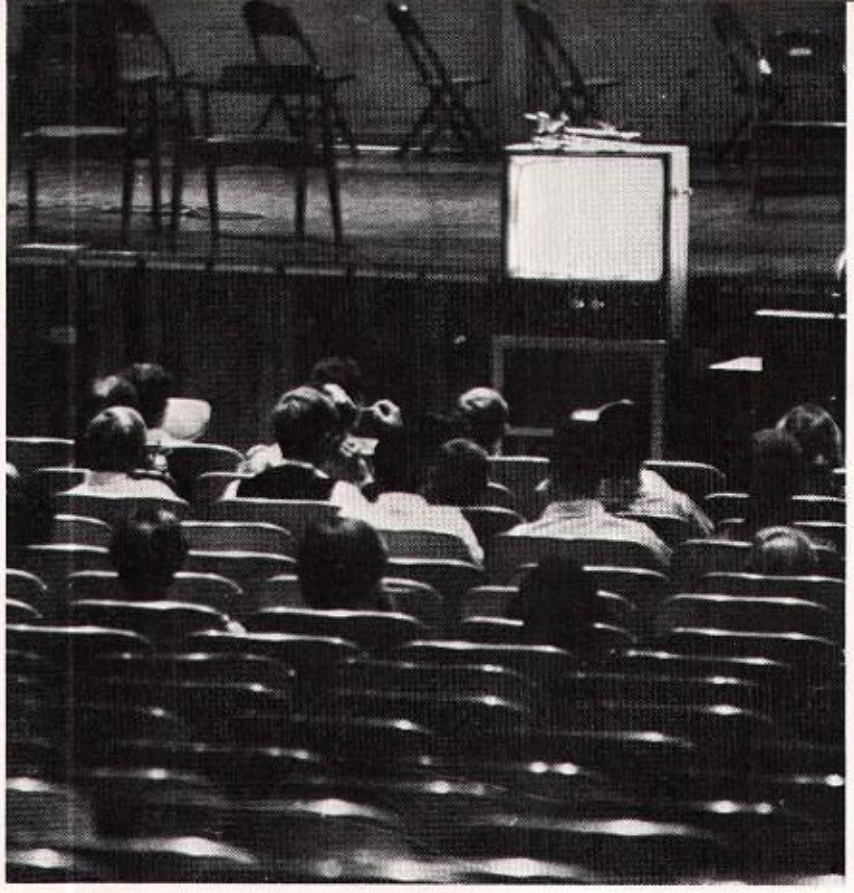
Students are required to complete many assignments outside of the classroom in order to advance their knowledge as far as possible. BELOW LEFT: Mary Roediger looks up from her work for a moment of brief respite before resuming her work. A basic requirement for student success in the classroom, no matter what teaching methods are used, is that the student pay attention to what the instructor or his classmates are saying. BELOW RIGHT: Bob Ferrier follows a lesson in his book, anticipating being called upon to contribute.



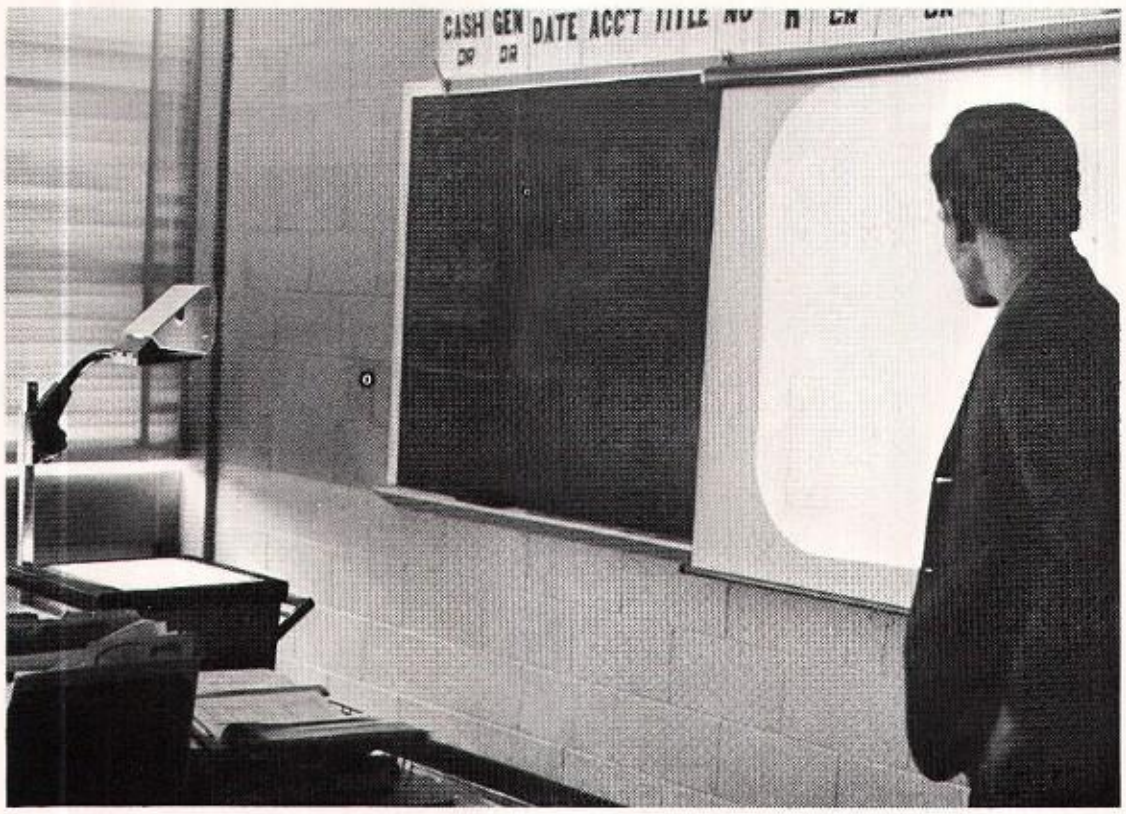
The teaching methods used by instructors at Methacton vary from the more "old-fashioned" forms to the modern methods using up-to-date machinery and equipment. Teachers have combined dictation and the usual blackboard-based discussions with slides, movies, and transparencies, making the classes more interesting for them and the students. Visual aids enable the students to better understand the material they are studying. Most of the departments make use of the overhead projectors for notes and illustrations and the teachers in the history and language departments augment their courses with movies and filmstrips. Students having business studies gain experience using the various office machines made available to them.



Colorful maps and charts add considerably to any lesson. Health students are familiar with the multitudinous charts of the human body in the Health rooms. RIGHT: Miss Payne glances almost affectionately at the near-life-size illustration of the skeletal and muscular systems as she instructs her ninth-graders.



One of the most helpful new teaching aids used this year at Methacton is the video tape machine. Teachers are able to tape television programs that may contribute to the courses they are teaching and show them to their classes. ABOVE LEFT: Students watch a program on Black History taped by teachers in the Social Studies Department.

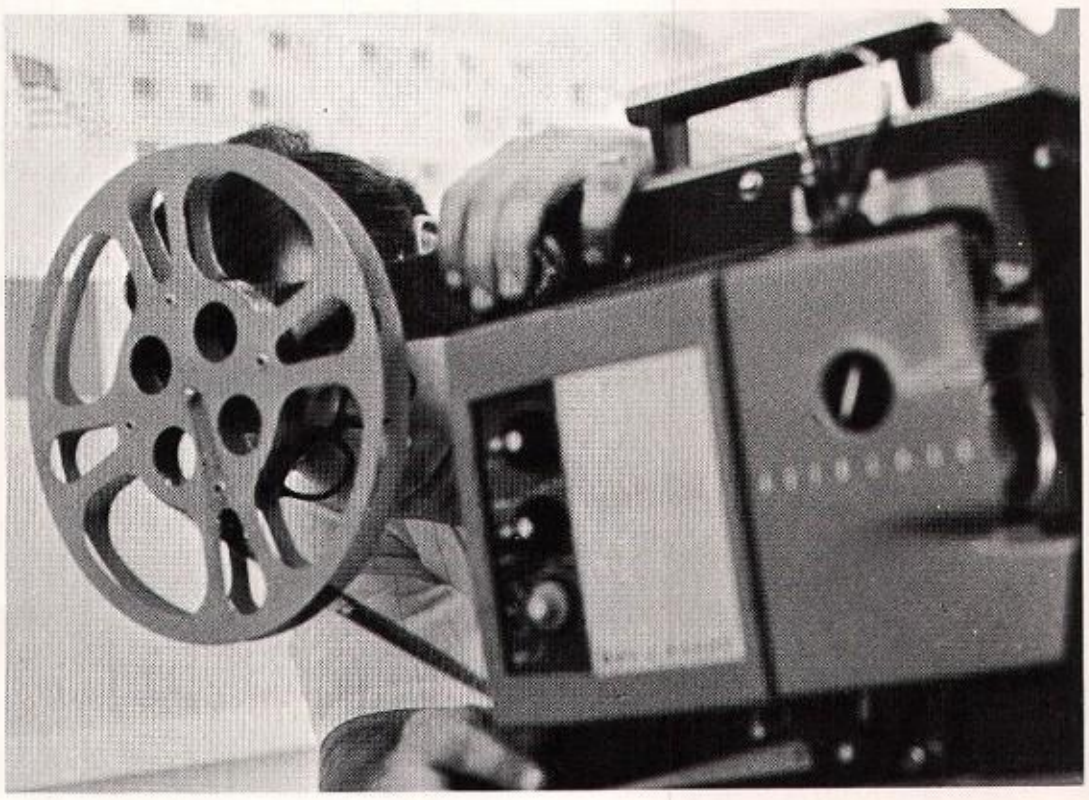


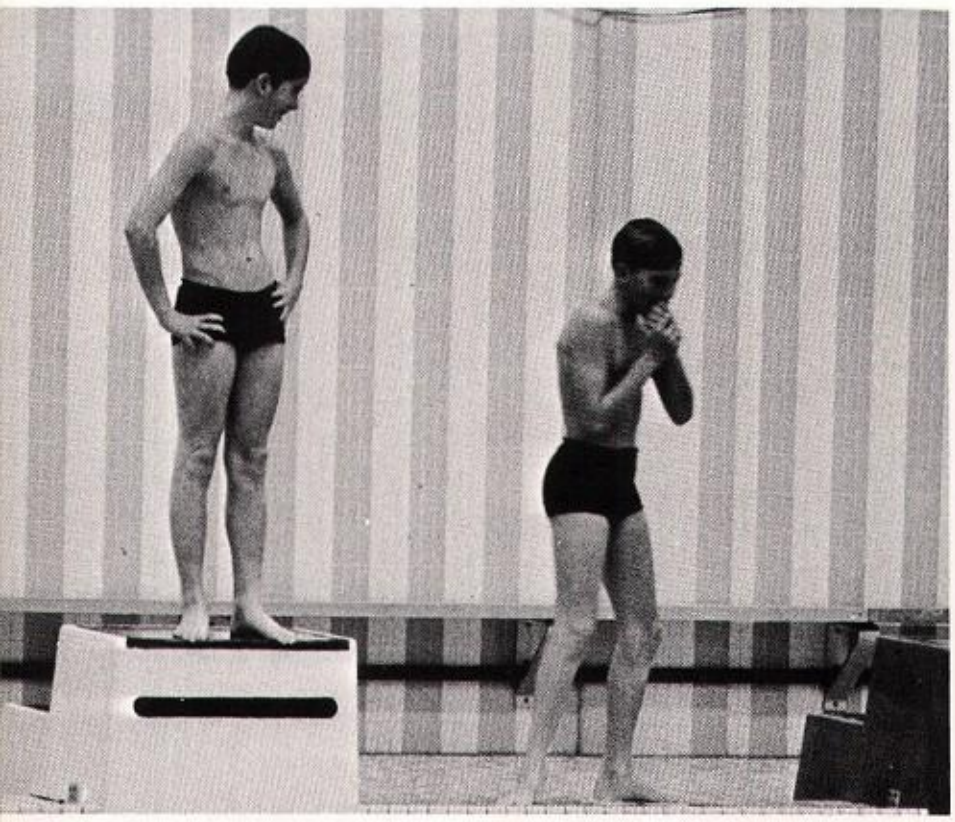
Electric typewriters are introduced to second-year typing students. The ease with which these machines operate helps to increase the student's speed and proficiency. ABOVE RIGHT: Mrs. Walz demonstrates proper form on a typing job to an attentive student.

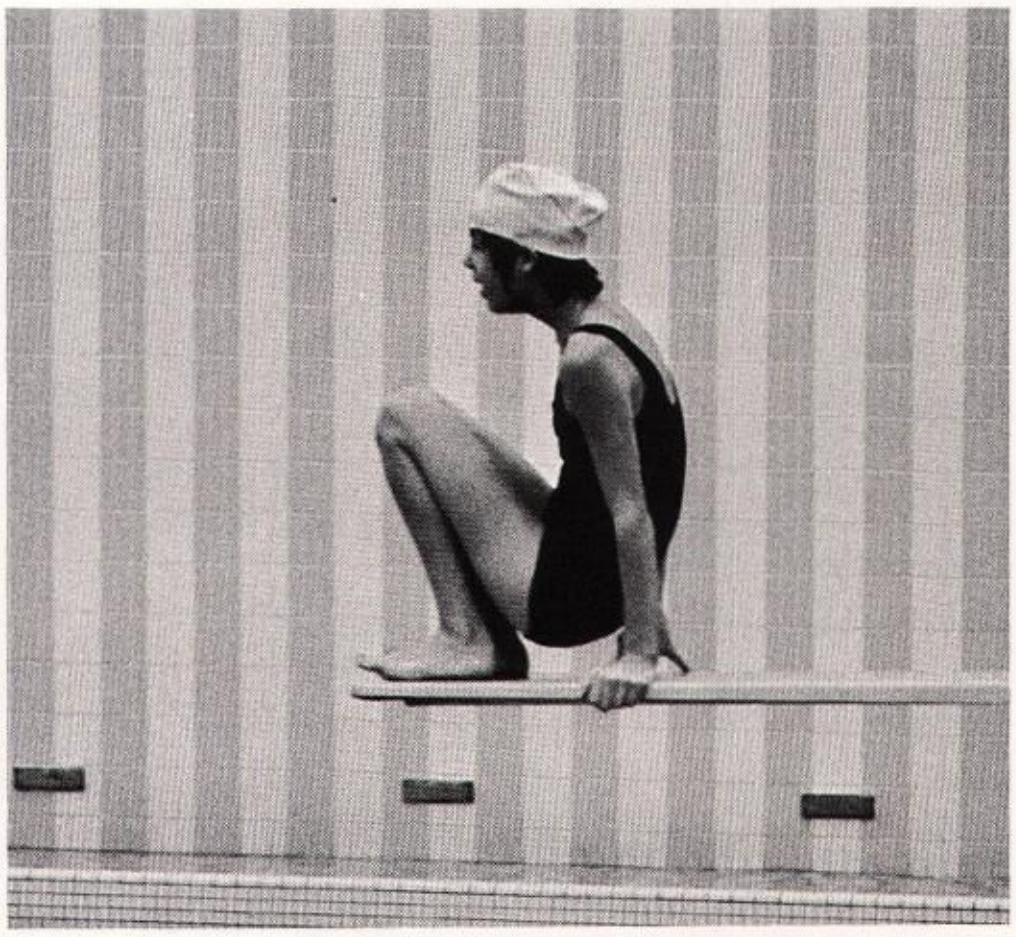
Used by the majority of the teachers in the Senior High, the overhead projector has become an indispensable means of presenting notes and sample problems. LEFT: Here Mr. Herman lectures to his students as the overhead projects the main ideas of his discussion.

The essential part of the high school year

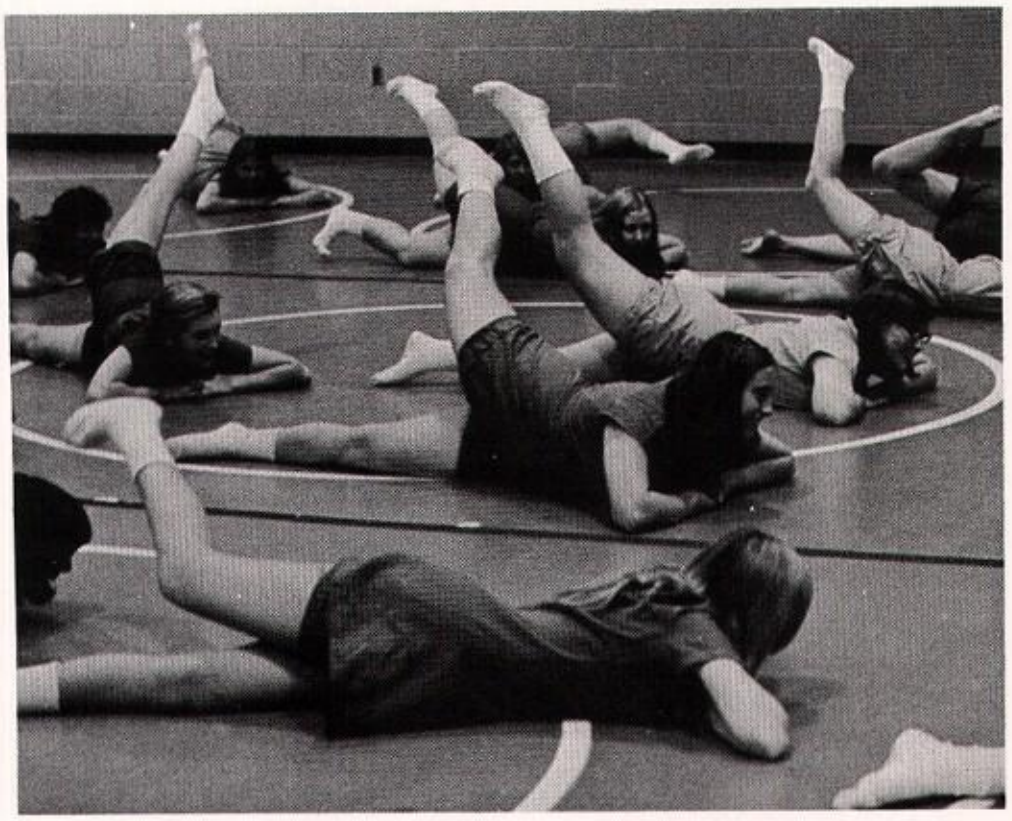
A familiar sight to all students is the threading or rewinding of a film on a projector. Films form a substantial portion of Social Studies courses as well as the Foreign Language and English subjects. RIGHT: Last minute adjustments are made by Carl Basile on the projector before the students file in to see the movie.



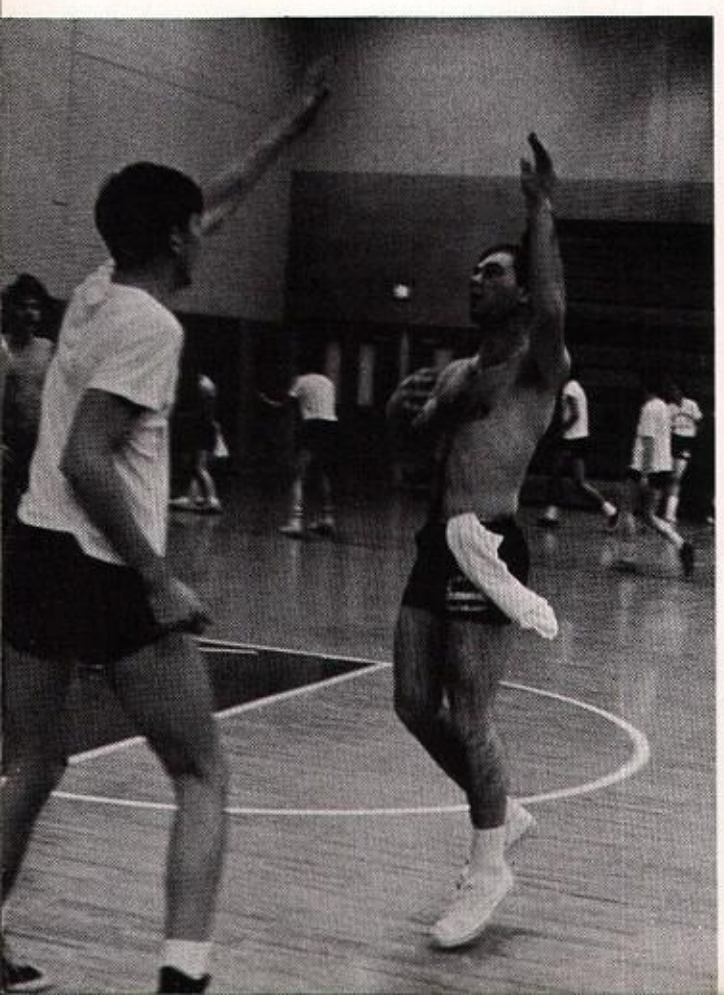




Free swims, as well as lessons given by swimming aides, comprise the pool curriculum. ABOVE: Two boys get ready to swim their laps while a small girl tries to reach a decision about whether or not she should make a leap off the diving board.

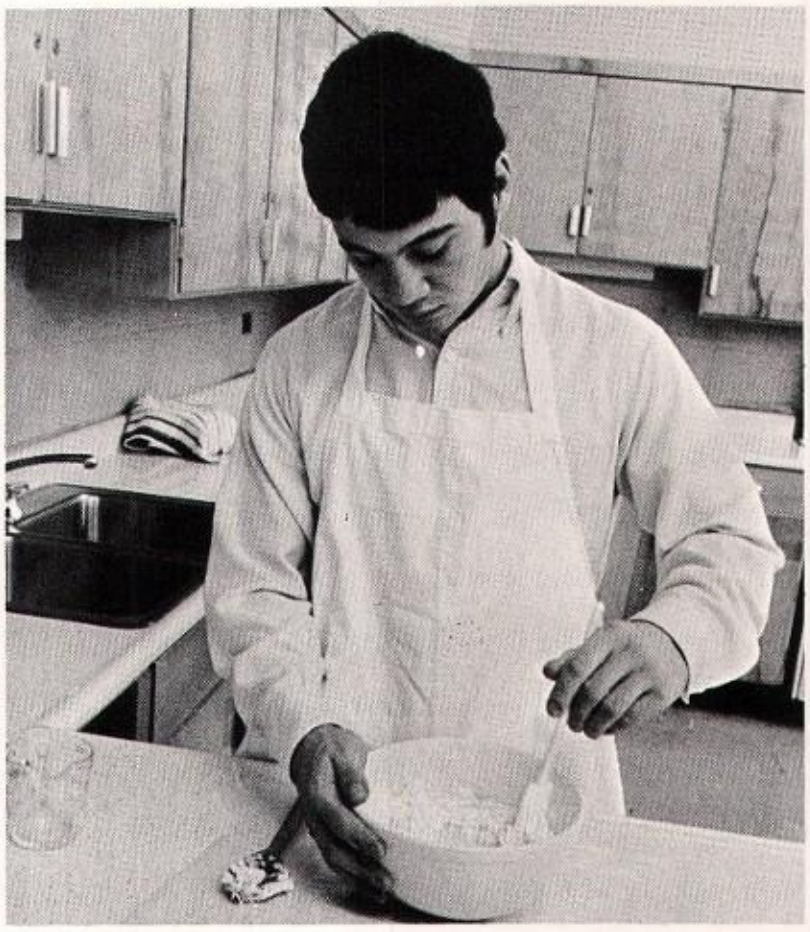


The addition of the swimming pool last year created many new opportunities for those students interested in furthering their swimming skills. Beginners are instructed in the basic fundamentals while more advanced swimmers strive to perfect their form. Individual attention encourages students to perform to the best of their ability.



Senior high students have to content themselves with physical education minus the use of the pool's facilities. LEFT: Boys' gym squads battle each other in basketball to determine the champion squad of the class. ABOVE: An attempt to make the young ladies of Methacton more graceful is made by teachers in the girls' Physical Education Department. The girls learn various steps in modern dance and exercises such as those shown.

Home Economics is offered as an elective in the Senior High and is a required subject in the Junior High. BELOW: Girls pitch in and help each other clean the kitchen area and dishes after they have concocted a culinary delight.



The difficulties as well as the joys of being able to make an article of clothing are experienced by all students studying dressmaking. ABOVE: Two ninth graders examine the workmanship on a garment before they continue sewing.

Boys are often surprised at what they are capable of doing in the kitchen after they complete the course in Bachelor Living. ABOVE RIGHT: Chuck LaSorda performs one of the mysterious housewifely duties of mixing batter.

Both boys and girls benefit from instructions in Home Economics. Classes vary from Clothing Design and Cooking for girls to Bachelor Living for boys.

Although certainly not for the squeamish student, Advanced Biology holds a great deal of fascination. BELOW RIGHT: Bob Stratton glances up in the midst of dissecting a turtle.

Advanced Biology offers practical experience for those persons who wish to enter a branch of the medical profession or an interesting study for those who are merely interested in biology. Dissection and anatomical studies form a large portion of the course.

Vo-Tech schools have become a common sight in most school districts around the country and the Methacton School District is no exception. They offer opportunities for students to fulfill ambitions which their regular schooling cannot provide.

Everything from chemical technology to cosmetology is offered and the students have the freedom to pick what they are most interested in. The subjects are interesting, in some cases engrossing, and in all cases informative.

Working in the metal shop, the students are given the opportunity to learn how to operate machines and use tools such as lathes, grinders, and welding torches needed when working with metal. After much study, the students become skilled and are able to use these machines with confidence.

A contrasting variety of courses ranging from Automotive Training to Food Preparation is offered at the Vo-Tech school. One very popular course with the boys is working with mechanics, but it does not surpass the interest in the art of baking, which is enjoyed by all.

There is a great demand for men and women trained in subjects like food preparation, mechanical repair, and distributive education. All of these subjects are not only very useful but also very applicable to the needs of people today. The students now training at the Vocational Technical School will someday hold these positions and become part of our complex economic system.

Methacton is alive.

RIGHT: Yuletide greetings were conveyed throughout the Junior High halls as a result of the Door Decoration Contest. Homeroom 220 this year took one of the top prizes.

Providing experience and preparation for Senior High government, the Junior High Student Council meets once a week after school to plan activities. A Student Week in May gave the seventh and eighth graders, among other things, a chance to "dress down", "clash", and wear a variety of hats. Under the direction of Miss Ocelus, Council also sponsored several dances, activities nights and contributed largely to the success of the annual candy sale.

SENIOR HIGH STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS. ROW 1: B. McDonnell, Sergeant-at-Arms; J. Ehinger, President; C. Constable, Treasurer. ROW 2: C. Slater, Secretary; D. Wisniewski, Parliamentarian; P. Rapposelli, Vice President.

Student Council, the large student government organization, underwent several changes this year, but remained the same in its purpose. For the first time, alternates were scheduled to attend meetings and, as a result, became a more involved part of Council. In addition to sponsoring their many activities, Council also innovated several changes in various areas such as dress regulations and lunch menus.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY. ROW 1: Mr. Emery, Advisor; M. Bosler, Secretary-Treasurer; J. Hopkins, President; J. Hantz, B. Famous. ROW 2: B. Cori, D. Roth, K. Marinari, P. Rapposelli, K. Adams, P. Perkins, S. Sovring, C. Morris.

Its halls echo the sounds of activity

Elected by the faculty on the four characteristics of scholarship, leadership, character, and service, the new members of the National Honor Society are inducted at the end of each year. Through the guidance of Mr. Emery and the leadership of the officers, Joe Hopkins, President; Carol Rothenberger, Vice President; and Mary Bosler, Secretary-Treasurer, the group strives to encourage scholarship and recognize outstanding leadership and service in the school.

The Library Aides, composed of students from all the grades, assist Mrs. Treichler with the daily tasks involved in library work. Besides devoting their free time to these duties, they also sponsor a Christmas Tea for the faculty and school organizations.

President Jay Felty, Vice President John Carroll, and Secretary-Treasurer Mike Schmieg led the Boys' Varsity "M" Club, an organization honoring those male athletes who have earned a varsity letter in at least one sport. Qualified candidates were selected by the club members after submitting a letter of application. Guided by their sponsor, Mr. Forsyth, the boys helped to spread enthusiasm and spirit for school activities.

LaSorda, P. Mascaro, P. Lowrie, R. Hartman, J. Felty. ROW 4: P. Yaskowski, J. Ehinger, P. Perkins, M. Schmieg.

The Girls' Varsity "M" Club, open to any girl earning a varsity letter, sponsors at least one activity during the school year in the form of a dance or fashion show. Under the leadership of President Carol Rothenberger and the guidance of Miss Bosler, this club attempts to instill an interest in sports and school activities.

GIRLS' VARSITY "M" CLUB. ROW 1: V. Arena, C. Hallman, L. Ambler. ROW 2: B. Collins, C. Kirk, Secretary-Treasurer; C. Rothenberger, President; L. Bohrer, Vice-President; K. Marinari, S. The American Field Service at Methacton was a committee of students who assisted the school in handling the exchange of foreign students. Adult and student committees found an American family for the foreign visitor who spent a year studying at Methacton. The school was represented overseas during the summer by Kathi Marinari who visited Turkey and Carol Rothenberger who spent the summer in Uganda through the A.F.S. program.

Meeting regularly under the supervision of Miss Wheeler and President Patti Rapposelli, members of the Future Teachers of America prepare themselves for the teaching profession. Throughout the year they engage in various activities such as visiting neighboring colleges and tutoring students in their weak subjects. The experience and knowledge gained proves valuable in their future careers in the field of education.

The purpose of the Future Nurses of America is to promote interest in nursing and to encourage those already interested in the field. The performance of community services by the club gives the members practical experience in helping others, while instructions given by their sponsor, Mrs. Ward, train them in the more classroom-oriented branches of nursing.

BELOW: Precision is displayed by the Majorettes and band while entertaining the spectators during a halftime performance.

One of the surprises greeting students returning to school this year was the vast change which the band had undergone. The fantastic sounds coming from the football field during halftime and at pep rallies were largely due to the efforts of the new band director, Mr. McCamley. By showing the band members what they were capable of, Mr. McCamley made several innovations. Among these were marching routines, popular songs, and black socks for the band members.

LEFT: As the band performs a new routine, each member concentrates on his own music and on the movement of the entire band as they strive for precision in formations.

Throughout the football season, the eight members of the Color Guard led the band and majorettes in half-time and pre-game shows. Under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Schuh, and captain, Beverly Famous, the Color Guard put much work into their shows. Many new routines for the arms and colors were designed and performed with precision.

An attractive addition to the Marching Band this year was the Drill Team. It was organized because of the interest of several students and their diligence and patience led them through the practices. They planned costumes and routines with their flags for the halftime performances which they gave with the help of their sponsor, Miss Rogers.

DRILL TEAM. ROW 1: K. Heller, L. Campbell, K. Petaccio, K. O'Donnell, C. Rueckle, J. Moore, F. Monaghan, K. Loffreda. ROW 2: K. Lee, D. Fishburn, D. Parker, J. Carroll, R. Lessner, R. Puscar, D. Granger, M. Shott, J. Anderson, G. Hummer, B. Atkinson, L. Moyer.

New uniforms for the Majorettes perked spirits and encouraged diligent practice necessary to learn complicated routines. This year there was a tiny addition to the squad in Martha Groff, the mascot majorette who added something extra to the others' smiles and sparkle. The eleven members exhibited school spirit by participating in pep rallies and spring parades.

The members of the 1970 Methacton Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Carlson, began practice for their Christmas program early in the school year. Preceding the night of the school concert, performances for various institutions and corporations provided rewarding experiences for the choir. After the Christmas program, the Methactones began preparing for the Spring Concert at the school and for outside performances.

Composed of members from the Concert Band, the Stage Band met regularly throughout the year under the direction of Mr. Soete. They worked all year to perfect their performance in the Methacton Follies.

One of the most talented and persevering organizations at Methacton this year was the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Middleton. String players who practiced each week were joined by players of wind instruments from the band in the annual Spring Concert and Commencement exercises.

Preparation for the Senior High Band begins with practice, hard work, and perseverance at the Junior High level. Students, under Mr. Soete's supervision, are given the opportunity to display their talents by playing at assemblies and pep rallies. Their activities include providing background for the Christmas and Spring Concerts and entertaining elementary students.

The Yearbook editors were assisted by four invaluable staffs this year. The Literary Staff helped to research topics and write copy for the Literary Editors. Girls on the Typing Staff spent several hours completing the necessary typing for each deadline. The Financial Staff sold yearbooks in the school and solicited ads to help finance the yearbook. The Paper Drive Staff members publicized the drives and spent three weekends picking up papers and stacking them in the bins. The proceeds from these drives also helped to substantiate the yearbook fund.

Participating in a variety of activities

An immense task facing Methacton each year is the completion of an accurate and enjoyable yearbook. Juniors were new additions to the traditionally senior staff this year, as was the position of Layout Editor. Each member of the staff had a specific job to perform, but cooperation in various tasks was important for meeting deadlines. Under the supervision of their sponsor, Miss Boehner, the staff combined original ideas and long hours after school to make this book one of the best to date.

An entirely new editorial staff effected several changes in the basic format of Smoke Signals. Although the staff this year did not succeed in their aim to publish a bimonthly paper, their many improvements put the monthly editions of the paper in great demand. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Newkirk, the editors and staff members strove for professionalism and accuracy in their writing while making their stories interesting. Long hours and much effort by staff members made the paper a success.

To honor students who have demonstrated both an academic excellence and an enthusiastic interest in the Spanish language is the purpose of Lazarillo, the Methacton chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society. "Todos a una" or "All for one" is the motto of this newly-formed organization sponsored by Mrs. Freeland. Under the leadership of President Theresa Lawless, Vice-President Susan Sovring, and the Secretary-Treasurer Eileen Flad, the members of la Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica not only set their goal at mastering Spanish, but also at promoting friendship and understanding between the United States and other countries, believing that a language can be the tie which brings together persons of different origins, races, and religions.

Hunting once a week is a regular fall activity of the Rifle Club. Sponsors Mr. Munch and Mr. Burd instruct boys sixteen years of age and older in hunting and trap-shooting. The club gives suburban students the chance to appreciate nature at a close range and also acquaints them with the proper use of firearms.

Keeping the boys in good physical shape during the off season and promoting general physical fitness are just two of the purposes of the Track and Field Club. Under the direction of Mr. Marinkov, the members attend indoor track meets and watch athletic films to improve their own styles and techniques. This year the club will be reorganizing and expanding with the addition of several new members.

New this year, the French Club is open to all students taking French. Under the direction of Mrs. McDowell, this club plans to undertake a number of activities, including Christmas caroling in French, learning French cooking, and taking field trips.

In the operationof their club.

The Swimming Aides, under the direction of Mr. Sauer, volunteered their spare time to teach younger students the basics of swimming. The qualifications for membership in the Swimming Aides were a good scholastic average and a satisfactory score in a swimming screen test.

From instructing beginners to tell the difference between a rook and a pawn to allowing more advanced players to perfect their techniques of checkmating, the chess club offered fun and mental stimulation for interested students. Under the leadership of Mr. Hentz, this club's requirement was only a desire to learn or improve in chess.

CHESS CLUB. ROW 1: J. Howard, H. Badger, K. Keck. ROW 2: P. James, A. Bean, J. Neilan, D. Cannon.

STAGE CREW. ROW 1: R. Marshall, R. Lawless, R. Strohm, C. Hoke, M. Baer.

Among its many duties, the stage crew has the responsibility of maintaining lighting and stage organization. The stage crew also did an excellent job on the set for the senior play, "The Diary of Anne Frank," displaying their ability and competence in erecting the four level set.

The main purpose of the Communications Club is to find out what is happening in school and to discuss it. Part of its communications work includes student-teacher debates and listening to new music. The club hopes to expand its activities in the future by broadcasting live football games.

COMMUNICATIONS CLUB. ROW 1: M. McGrath, R. Martin, Mr. Ott, Sponsor; G. Fesmire, D. Shea, J. Houpt, M. Petko, M. Gardner, R. Wood, G. Thomson, M. Lyons, B. Allen, C. Alker.

Under the direction of Mrs. Bollinger and Miss Kruczek the staff members of Totem Talk provided the Junior High with an interesting and informative newspaper. The staff gathered important news of school activities and, during club periods, composed the paper. This valuable experience served both to teach responsibility and also to acquaint students with the basics of journalism.

Together they become responsible, capable leaders.

Pep Club reached new heights this year under the direction of Miss Boehner. Colorful posters by Joan Yaskowski, Gwen Appleton, Susan Smith, and the rest of the club brightened the halls all year. Under the leadership of the cheerleaders, this large group worked hard to make the atmosphere at sports events more spirited.

Throughout the year, the Projection Club members delivered films, filmstrips, projectors, records, tape recorders, and tape players to the classrooms where they were needed and then returned them to the Audio Visual room. They also ran the projectors in the auditorium during assemblies and activities nights. The club was sponsored by Mr. Bergandino and was open to all interested boys.

Lacrosse, the one-time Indian game, has become a familiar sport to most of the female athletes at Methacton. Starting with overwhelming losing seasons during the first several seasons of interscholastic competition, the team has steadily improved to the point where the wins now outnumber the losses. Because of the many underclassmen on the team, the coaches anticipate a championship season next year.

Soccer is rapidly rising to become one of the most popular sports in the world. An action game, soccer requires great skill and endurance, and the soccer teams at Methacton practice diligently for each game. Experienced players and high spirits enabled the players to defeat several highly - rated schools during the season and the large turnout of underclassmen this year indicates a bright future for the team.

He strives to develop spirit

The rough game of football left Methacton with many injured athletes this year. Although the season was a losing one, it produced a fine group of men who never gave up. Under the leadership and encouragement of the coaches and the co-captains, Dave Nyce, Chuck LaSorda, and Rich Hibbs, the team kept going in and fighting even when they were losing. The best example of the great amount of spirit was the Abington game in which the team almost defeated the number one team in the league.

An early season tie with a previously undefeated Plymouth-Whitemarsh team boosted the spirit of the girls' hockey team. The girls worked well together and developed a team spirit which enabled them to become the highest scoring hockey team in Methacton's history.

This year Methacton had several returning varsity players, contrasting with other years when only one or two lettermen were left after the seniors graduated. Victories were chalked up for the Warriors in the Souderton, Upper Dublin and Perkiomen Valley games. The team exhibited fine sportsmanship and a desire to win throughout the season, especially in the Norristown game where the Warriors surprised many sports experts by holding the highly rated neighboring team to a slim lead.

With the loss of some very good wrestlers from last year's squad, this year's team continued the winning trend which has prevailed on the mats during the past several years. Out of eight schools competing in the Springford Jaycees Tournament during the Christmas vacation, Methacton finished first with outstanding senior wrestlers Paul Lowrie, Bob Stratton and Chuck LaSorda leading the way. Highlights of the season included victories over formidable opponents Plymouth-Whitemarsh and North Penn.

The new varsity coach, Mr. Kellon, stressed the importance of fitness and weekly wrote and distributed the "Grappler's Gazette," which discussed the best match of the week, individual wrestler's opponents and future games.

The addition of some underclassmen such as Joe Latella, Jerry Robbins, Ron Hartman and Mike Marren, should insure success in the future seasons.

A conscientious coach, Mr. Sauer, sometimes spends up to six hours working on line-ups for a meet in order to group and place the boys in the most advantageous events. Unnoticed by many Methacton students this year, the boys' swimming team swam tough and victorious meets against Upper Dublin and Lower Merion. Howard Wright and Cole Hoagland, co-captain along with junior Mike Sharadin, were two outstanding seniors who excelled in the relays. Dave Hausner, a strong swimmer in the freestyle and individual medley events, singly held six of the nine team records.

With the new addition of a 25 yard, six lane pool only two years ago, the girls' swimming team has grown progressively stronger. Joanne Horrocks, leading in freestyle, Debbie Pearson, in breaststroke, and Terry Barchet, holding a pool record in backstroke, are three hard-working girls who have contributed greatly to the team. The tough meet against Wissahickon was an exciting one as the Methacton girls attained some of their best times and several achieved personal records.

Girls' basketball, one of the most popular sports for girls, is also one of the most strenuous. Participants were required to run endless laps to build up endurance as well as to practice diligently to perfect their skills. Results of their practices were reflected in victories over Abington with the score of 40-28 and Perkiomen Valley with a score of 36-32. Victory was an unknown word to the Junior High Soccer team this year, but this failed to decrease their enthusiasm and love of the game. Practices, although failing to evince any game-winning results, illustrated hard work and the improvements of many of the team members. Optimism for next year is shown by all team members and coaches, but having fun and learning skills seem to be the universal purposes of the game until the senior high level is reached.

A 3-7 record and a feeling of expectation for next year concluded a season of concentrated effort for the Junior High baseball team. Although the combination of experience and talent was not sufficient enough to defeat all their opponents, it should contribute to a successful team next year. Two victories over neighborhood rival Stewart, usually one of the toughest teams in the league, highlighted this season.

The most efficient way for Junior High boys to stay in shape during the winter months is to participate in wrestling, which improves muscle coordination, strength, and endurance. It is a sport in which individual efforts are combined to make the team score.

The boys competed for twelve Varsity and J. V. positions through a series of eliminations. The coaches, Mr. Kyler and Mr. Griffiths, trained many promising athletes who enjoyed a fairly successful season. Some of the season's top grapplers were Nelson Stratton, Joe Yorck, and Tom Marino.

Democracy is both the best and the most difficult form of political organization — the most difficult because it is the best.

Dear Skip,
Can't express my feeling towards d
our friendship in words d too! Ahh very glad that we stayed together after wilderness;
all we needed was a chance to get to know each other! I'm glad you and Keith are together because let me tell you he's a great kid and you deserve him and he deserves you! I can always depend on you for an honest opinion! Much happiness to you. Never forget Troop 267 and the Fairview show! We Love RAIN.
Love,

Betsy,

While I'm trying to write this German novice is going full blast! Always remember all the things we did together, the dances (Ahhh!), the concert, hayrides, etc. I'm sorry that we couldn't have gone to more things together but things got in the way. Also remember (but try to forget) all of the classes we had together, our Algebra class (where I always made a fool of myself, forgetting formulas) and the unspeakable Chemistry class (We never embarrass anyone... We don't care about grades...) Whew, I'm glad I'm getting out. Always remember our Band, too and our great director, Mr. McCauley. I hope we can see each other this summer and if you go to camp with Constable and Pearson, don't get in the same cabin. Always remember this absent-minded, nicked up kid.

With love,

Keith Kaneda

Betsy,
To a really nice girl. Never forget Home Room 222.
Best of luck always
